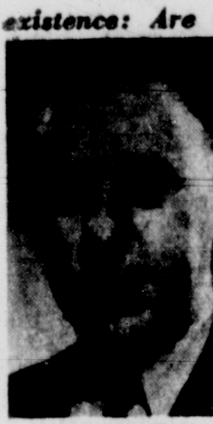
A Close Look at Our Moment of Peril

We'll Let Russia Strike First—Then What?

The Great Debate

The "Great Debate" rages over a question that could determine our national existence: Are we building modern weapons of war fast enough and good enough to meet an ominous Russian threat? No one man has the answer. But in the provocative series of articles that starts today one of America's great reporters presents facts and opinions that can help all Americans to a clearer realization of the life-or-death problem.



CONSIDINE

By BOB CONSIDINE
Herald Columnist

FOR THE FIRST time since the War of 1812 there is genuine concern in Washington over the ability of the U. S. to survive an enemy attack.

It is not a general concern. There are elements of the military and officialdom which see little chance of a nuclear war with the Soviet Union. Others, including key figures in the Eisenhower administration, feel no apprehension over the lead which the U.S.S.R. apparently has taken in the field of the ultimate weapon — the intercontinental ballistic missile. They see no need to increase the 40 billion dollar arms budget.

Yet despite this pacifying atmosphere in several high and influential quarters, responsible Americans of all political shades go to bed these nights haunted by such bugaboos as these:

A prospectus drawn up in the Defense Department, and kept under lock and key, states that if the Soviet Union has the long-range weapons delivery system it boasts about, a salvo of its nuclear-tipped missiles would kill 10,000,000 Americans and virtually or entirely demolish our means of retaliation.

Another Defense Department estimate is that by the end of 1960 the U.S.S.R. will have a 3-1 edge over the U.S. in ICBMs. But no speed-up program to close the gap is now planned.

A prominent senator known for his advocacy of the U.S. Air Force states that 75 per cent of the Strategic Air Command's striking force is obsolescent. He questions whether more than a handful of SAC's hundreds of big manned bombers could survive Soviet air defense and reach their assigned targets in any retaliatory raid.

The Distant Early Warning line of radar sites, built across the Arctic from Alaska to Greenland at a cost of hundreds of millions, to detect a Red air force manned bomber fleet which may or may not exist, cannot spot Soviet ICBMs. A crash program to "raise the sights" of our polar detection system is only now getting under way.

The Navy's Polaris missile, submarine-based, will not be ready for another year. Its critics say that it will have only half the predicted 1,500-mile range. But the sea service has stopped production of an excellent interim missile, the air-breathing Regulus II, after spending about 250 million dollars.

The Air Force's solid fuel ICBM, "Minuteman," will not be ready until perhaps 1965. In the interim, it must depend on the complex and immobile liquid-fueled Atlas and Titan which require hours, if not days, to prepare for launching. Flying time of a Russian ICBM from its Soviet base to any U. S. target: 25 minutes.

The Army, with the most notable record in the missile field, has been generally thwarted in its efforts to build bigger and better weapons, including the Nike Zeus, anti-missile missile believed capable of knocking out enemy ICBMs flying in space at 15 times the speed of sound.

The Defense Department, Central Intelligence Agency and White House firmly rule out all attempts to change the country's traditional outlook on war. In an age of superweapons development wherein a great war might be decided in minutes rather than years, we still concede to the enemy the initial blow. A big question in Washington today is, "But will we be able to get off the floor and fight back after being hit?"

This and subsequent articles will attempt to illuminate some of the problems confronting military and political leaders and print the answers as those experts see them. Independent observation will be included.

The answers of the principals involved do not always coincide. The thousands of pages of testimony taken by the preparedness investigating subcommittee of the Senate's Armed Services, Missile and Space Activities Committee, as well as other fact-seeking probes, are laced with differences and contradictions. Ask the same question of any three men involved in Washington's latest Great Debate

Asks for Leadership

Collins Says Politicos Fear Rights Issue

EXCLUSIVE

From Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The civil rights controversy has the nation's leaders "quaking in their political boots," Gov. LeRoy Collins told leading U.S. Democrats Saturday.

Collins, addressing a $100-a-plate dinner honoring newly elected Democrat governors, charged the nation's leadership with being "fearful even to seek honorable, sensible adjustments" to the hot race problems.

Then leveling a blast at the Republicans, the Florida governor said:

"Our national administration, at a crucial time in history, is not measuring up to changing responsibilities. This is the basis for the uneasiness which stirs Americans these days."

He called on Democrats to choose as a Presidential candidate "an uncommon man with a common touch . . . a man of progressive outlook with a solid record of achievement."

Walkout At PAA Is Averted

By TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

Threat of a systemwide strike against Pan American Airways by its 7,000 Transport Workers Union employes was lifted early Saturday as both sides came out of an all-night meeting with an agreement "in principle."

GROGAN

The threatened strike, which had been set for midnight Monday, would have affected some 3,000 PAA workers in Miami and another 1,500 at the strategic Cape Canaveral Missile Test Center.

Federal Mediator Frances A. O'Neill, who several times prevented hot-tempered union and company leaders from stalking out of the night-long meeting in New York, said the agreement was reached at 6 a.m.

Both company and union officials refused to outline terms of the tentative settlement, but Miamian William Grogan, international vice president of TWU, said, "It's a good contract which we can submit with honor to our members."

The union's 20-member negotiating committee will meet in New York at 7 p.m Monday to hear terms of the contract. If they accept the plan, it will be submitted for a TWU general membership vote later in the week.

There were strong indications Saturday that the union did not succeed in pushing through its major demand — a 37½-hour week for all members.

The union went into negotiations last week, asking a 35-cent across-the-board hourly increase and a 37½-hour week with 40-hour pay to offset a feared decrease in employment due to PAA's jet system.

The company offered a 25-cent hourly wage hike sprad over two years and had already instituted a paid lunch period for some workers, thus cutting down some 40-hour work weeks.

Reds Fan Trawler Incident

U.S. Accused Of Provocation

Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON — The Soviet Union Saturday assailed the action of the U.S. Navy in boarding a Russian fishing vessel as a "premediated provocation."

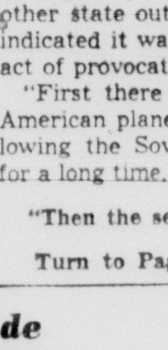
Radio Moscow again accused the U.S. of an unlawful action in stopping the trawler Novorossisk Thursday off Newfoundland on the suspicion that it had damaged trans-Atlantic cables.

The broadcast declared:

"The war play of the U.S., whose obvious purpose is to undermine peace, has been taking on uglier and provocative forms"

A boarding party from the U.S. destroyer-type vessel Roy O. Hale made a 70-minute search above deck on the Soviet trawler.

The leader of the Navy party, Lt. Donald Sheely, said Saturday night in Washington he believes the Russian trawler may well have cut the cables off Newfoundland. He added:



SHEELY

"I feel that it was most probable that it was accidentally cut."

The Soviet Union Friday reported the boarding incident in factual dispatches. One headline then called it an unlawful action but Saturday's broadcast was the first Soviet comment.

The Moscow commentator said:

"The circumstances surrounding this unprecedented incident of a search party boarding a fishing ship belonging to another state out in the open sea indicated it was a premeditated act of provocation.

"First there is the fact that American planes have been following the Soviet fishing fleet for a long time.

"Then the search was timed

Convicted of Desertion

Fascell Appeals For Miami Airman

By DAVID J. KRASLOW
Herald Staff Writer

Miami Congressman Dante Fascell appealed to Air Force Secretary James Douglas Saturday to review personally the desertion conviction of a German-born Miami airman whose parents were killed by the Nazis and whose family is destitute.

Fascell said in a letter to Douglas that Airman 3-C Harry Frydman, 31, now imprisoned at Homestead Air Force Base, "has proven that he is an honest person . . . a person with good moral character . . . one who can be trusted."

Harry Frydman
. . . soul trying

"I am convinced that this case merits far more than the usual consideration," Fascell said. ". . . I am urgently pleading that you intercede . . . personally review this case."

Frydman, whose wife and three children are in danger of losing their home at 11050 SW 52nd Dr., was convicted of desertion by a court martial at Homestead on Jan. 23. He was sentenced to a dishonorable discharge and six months at hard labor.

Fascell based his appeal on Frydman's past, bringing out testimony that the airman watched his parents being marched off to their deaths in a Nazi concentration camp, and escaped as a 12-year-old to join the British Army.

"This boy has been running, and I mean running, away from all signs of force, practically since the day he first learned to comprehend the spoken word," Fascell told Douglas.

So said Major Harold D. Combs, the base chaplain, in urging the military court to allow Frydman to return to his wife and three children in Miami.

Christine, Mrs. Frydman's 12-year-old daughter by a previous marriage, is deaf. The Frydmans were married June 30, 1956.

Another child, Judy, was born in October, 1957, and David came on Oct. 29, 1958, a month after Frydman — sought as a deserter — was arrested at his place of work by FBI agents.

David was born blind.

Wait, Give Rival Break, Fidel Says

HAVANA — (AP) — Fidel Castro said Saturday elections will be delayed for about two years in Cuba to give the opposition a chance to develop. Voting now, he said, "would not be fair."

The prime minister, who has favored a cooling-off period for elections after his two-year revolt, told a group of touring American newsmen:

"We would be the overwhelming majority at this stage. It is in the best interests of the nation, therefore, if elections are held when political parties are fully developed and their programs clearly defined."

Castro also told the Americans in a question-and-answer session in English that he hopes to accept an invitation from the American Society of Newspaper Editors to address their annual convention in Washington in April.

He added he also would be glad to meet President Eisenhower "if he has time and I have time." Castro added that he felt American policy toward the revolution has been "sincere and friendly."

Replying to a question about his criticism of U.S. policy toward Batista, Castro said: "we criticized the U.S. for helping Batista — not because they did not help us. We did not want American intervention—we've had plenty of that in the last 30 years.

California Shot Takes New Route

Hopes Dim Of Rocket Orbiting

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. — (UPI) — The Air Force Saturday fired the first satellite-carrying rocket in the "Project Discoverer" program, but several hours after the launching no signals had been received from the 1,300-pound artificial moon.

When the 78.2-foot long rocket-satellite blasted off at 4:49 p.m. Miami time, controlling Air Force officers said orbiting should be achieved in "two to three hours."

But Saturday night, hopes dimmed. The Air Force still held out a slim hope of successful orbiting.

The Air Force reported the special tracking stations in Alaska and Hawaii had failed to locate the satellite during the interval of its first projected circuit of the earth, 150 to 450 miles in the air.

This could have been due to failure of the rocket to achieve orbit, or to the fact that its planned course was outside the network of stations that tracked previous satellites.

The planned orbit would be like a hoop around the earth, passing over the North and South Poles. Achievement of the orbit would be a step toward the creation of reconnaissance satellites, which could scan the whole earth as it revolved below.

Air Force officials said the launching was "a success" regardless of success or failure of the orbit. The primary goal had been accomplished, the testing of the second stage vehicle.

The satellite-bearing rocket lunged from its launch pad and headed straight up into a cloudless blue sky, leaving a bright yellow tail of fire clearly visible from the press observation center nearly two miles away.

After the Discoverer — the first attempt to launch a satellite from the Pacific Coast — reached an altitude of between 10,000 to 15,000 feet, it arched into a horizontal flight, leaving a long vapor trail. It appeared that the rocket was heading south in the general direction of Los Angeles, but the shot was designed to send it southwest over the Pacific.

The Air Force confirmed five minutes after the firing that telemetry data showed the 18.8-foot long satellite stage had separated from the Thor booster and was continuing its spaceward climb.

It was estimated that the second stage of the rocket required a speed of approximately 25,000 miles an hour to place it in orbit.

The satellite — which weighs 1,300 pounds — carried a 40-pound payload of telemetry equipment, but no animals. The first shot is mainly to test the vehicle.

7 Hockey Players Die as Roof Falls

LISTOWEL, Ont. — (AP) — Seven Peewee League hockey players—all of them 12 or under—were killed Saturday when the snow-burdened roof of the Listowel Memorial Arena collapsed. Their recreation director also died in the thundering collapse.

Nineteen others were hurt. Nine of them were treated at the hospital for minor injuries and sent home.

Rescue workers dug frantically through the debris for other possible victims but police said later all the missing had been accounted for.

Listowel is in Ontario's snowbelt and there is about 25 inches of snow on the ground in the area.

The adult victim was Kenneth McLeod, 35, recreation director for this town of 3,530 population 25 miles northeast of Kitchener.

The manager of the arena, Percy Knoblaugh, said he was standing at the entrance when the walls buckled. Then the roof crashed.

Police said it was difficult to determine just who was in the arena when the roof fell.

Canaveral Bird Set For Its Space Probe

CAPE CANAVERAL — (UPI) — A dense, lingering overcast closed in on the cape Saturday and the Army delayed its attempt to launch its new space probe rocket at least until today.

The tall Juno II moon bird, designed to hurl its gold-plated payload past the lunar sphere and into orbit around the sun, was ready for firing.

A top project official said that "as far as we can see now, everything about the bird itself looks perfect — the telemetry (radio reporting setup), the mechanics, all that's important."

The Army plans to aim the stately four-stage rocket directly at the moon and has estimated it will take 34 hours for the 13-pound Pioneer IV probe vehicle to reach the lunar sphere.

The overcast did not, however, halt an Air Force attempt to test a futuristic nose cone over intercontinental range early Saturday.

A Thor-Able test rocket fired at 2:48 a.m. knifed through several layers of clouds to start its mission to the South Atlantic.

But the Defense Department said many hours later it was not sure what happened to the rocket.

We'll Spur Overseas Buildup

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The U.S. has decided on a series of moves to prepare for the expected May 27 showdown with Russia over Berlin.

The Defense and State Departments are now planning precise steps, officials reported Saturday. These are said to fall into two categories—measures to reinforce the Western military-political position on a long-range basis and measures concerned directly with the Berlin crisis.

In connection with the first type, the U.S. has decided to go ahead on an early agreement with Italy to base intermediate range (1,500-mile) ballistic missiles on Italian territory. Now that the new government of Antonio Segni is firmly established in Rome the IRBM pact is expected to be quickly arranged.

After review of the problem within the State and Defense Departments it has also been decided, officials said, to continue replacing F100 jet fighter aircraft with the latest very high speed F101s.

Informants said any failure of the U.S. at this point to go forward with plans to strengthen its own bases and its allies overseas would be construed by the Soviets as a sign of weakness. They said that from President Eisenhower down the intention now is to avoid giving Moscow reason for any such miscalculation.

As far as measures aimed specifically at Berlin and Germany are concerned, inquiry in official quarters indicated that as Russia's deadline for abandonment of its occupation role in East Berlin approaches, the U.S. Strategic Air Command will be put in a fully alert status and the Strategic Army Command with its highly mobile force of four divisions may be made ready for quick action.

Concern with military moves increased inside the administration — as well as in Congress — after Soviet Premier Nikita Khurshchev Tuesday assailed Western proposals for negotiation on Germany and Berlin issues.

Nikita Plans Sudden Trip to E. Germany

MOSCOW — (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev is making a surprise trip to East Germany, possibly foreshadowing the next Soviet move in the Berlin crisis.

The official Tass News Agency Saturday said tersely that Khrushchev will visit the International Trade Fair at Leipzig. It did not say when, nor would the foreign ministry give a date. The fair opens today.

The press chief of the Soviet embassy in East Berlin, V. M. Beburov, said Khrushchev is expected to arrive in Leipzig Wednesday.

This will be after a closing meeting with visiting British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in the Kremlin Monday. Macmillan will leave for home Tuesday.

'Don't Pity Me--Fleeing Has Ended'

By JOY WINANS
Herald Writer

The man they call Jimmy Pearl has stopped running now. And despite the reasons which made him run, he wants no pity.

At 31, Jimmy — whose real name is Harry Frydman — has fled from many things.

From his home in Germany where he was forced to wear the yellow star the Nazis designed for Jews. From a hideout in Belgium where his family sheltered him against Storm Trooper jack boots.

From the Nazi death camp in Belsen, Germany, where he saw his father and mother led to their naked, shameful death.

And finally from the U. S. Air Force.

"If only my family can get by now, I'll make it up to them when I get back," said Frydman, who has five months left of a six-month sentence for admitted desertion.

But getting by now is tough for the little family in the white house at 11050 SW 52nd Dr. Doctor bills alone take up a large part of their only income — $124 a month from welfare agencies.

The young couple met in Miami, shortly after Frydman walked away from his job in the Air Force's accounting office in Washington, where he was considered almost a genius at mental computation.

Then came a telephone call saying that the FBI had arrested her husband.

"It was a terrible thing I did to my wife but I was afriad if I told her she would be an accessory," Frydman said Saturday.

"I wanted to become a U.S. citizen," Frydman said simply.

ago in Nordlingen, Germany.

The family home was confiscated by the Nazis in 1938. Frydman's two younger brothers and a sister were taken to England, but Frydman chose to remain with his parents when the Nazis refused to let them leave the country.

". . . All the people had to register as Jews, or if someone was keeping a Jew or Jewish people, they had to turn them in."

In 1940, the boy and his parents were placed in the concentration camp at Belsen.

Q. "Did the entire family remain together?"

A. "No, sir."

Q. "Why not?"

(Witness appeared very disturbed and was crying.)

A. "They were killed."

He escaped soon after and walked and hitch-hiked his way to France. There the French underground took him in and got him across the English Channel in a small motorboat.

For most of his 3½ years in the British army, Frydman served as an interpreter in Germany. He received an honorable discharge in June, 1948, and was brought to the U.S. by an uncle living in New York.

In March, 1952, he walked away from McChord Air Force Base, Wash., and never returned.

"I don't really know, sir," Frydman said when asked to explain his behavior. "I ran away. I run away from most everything."

Frydman said he intended to return to the base on his own, but "got scared" when he heard a radio broadcast of his escape.

To keep his job he had to obtain a police identification card. That meant fingerprinting.

"I knew that I would be picked up now that they had my fingerprints," he testified.

He said he told his wife he had some "unfinished business" to take care of. But Frydman kept putting off the inevitable until it was too late.

"I honestly believe that Frydman intended to return to military control," Fascell wrote Douglas.

"I have come to respect the man very highly," the chaplain testified at the trial. "He has realized from the very beginning he made a mistake, a very serious mistake."

exactly for a moment when the Novorossisk reached an area where damaged American telephone and telegraph cables are located."

The broadcast also denied that the Soviet vessel had anything to do with the damage to the underwater communication lines.

An official of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said Saturday night in New York a fishing trawler apparently had deliberately cut the trans-Atlantic cable.

John A. Bowman, general manager of special projects for the AT&T's long lines department, said the repair ship Lord Kelvin had located the cable break about noon Saturday some 195 miles off Clarenceville, Nfld.

"From the looks of the cable," Bowman said, "it appears that it had become fouled in trawling gear, was hauled aboard a trawler and cut to free the gear."

Car Leaps Into Store, Kills Two

SEAFORD, N.Y. —(UPI)— A new British car went out of control in a parking lot Saturday and leaped backward into the doorway of a crowded Long Island supermarket, killing a young brother and sister. Their mother and brother were among the seven injured.

Police said the accident occurred at the height of the weekend shopping jam at the King Kullen supermarket.

The crowd was thrown into near-hysteria when the car smashed into four automatic doors leading from checkout counters to the parking lot.

Caught full force by the blow were Mary Ann Romano, two, and her brother, John, five. Their mother, Mrs. Mary R. Romano, 29, and four-year-old brother, Gerard, were hurt.

Also injured were Glen Gomez, nine, Emmanuel Flannigan, 46, Mary Flannigan, 47, Helen Norkett, 44, and George Hogger, 37.

Banana Boat Runs Aground

A 438-ton banana boat bound from Miami to Panama with 12 crewmen aboard ran aground some 1,000 miles south of here Saturday night and radioed the Coast Guard it was taking on water.

The Coast Guard said the ship, grounded about 300 miles north of Panama, was not in immediate danger but that the Miami company which owns the vessel was sending another ship to help the Jiminoa.

The Big Question Today: Could We Survive Attack?

and you may receive three sharply conflicting interpretations.

Defense Secretary Neil McElroy sees no need to spend more money during this coming fiscal year than has been asked for by his department.

"The present rate of arms spending assures that essential defense needs are met," the secretary told the subcommittee under the questioning of its able counsel, Edwin L. Weisl. He called the U.S. position "satisfactory."

Sen. Stuart Symington (D., Mo.), a member of the subcommittee and secretary of air during the Truman administration, asserted at the same hearing:

"Since the United States has not kept its defense strength modernized, during the next few years adequate defense requires more money than estimated in the President's budget. The coming year may afford us our last chance to initiate any real effort to catch up with the Russians in the most important field of modern weaponry."

Stuart Symington

Neil McElroy

"Who's telling the truth in the Great Debate?" I asked Sen. Lyndon Johnson, the majority leader whose subcommittee is far from satisfied with what it has heard.

"They all are," he said, suddenly looking up at us.

"It reminds me of the time our little girl was born. I understand that later on some of the neighbors didn't think she was too pretty as a little baby. But to me she was the most beautiful thing I ever saw in my life." He paused, grinned and added, "Now, that was an honest difference of opinion. Maybe we were both right."

"I've heard enough in that committee room to convince me that the Defense Department's decision to go along with the President's budget is a political decision, not a military decision.

"I don't think we're moving far enough fast enough. We're getting one missiles czar stacked up on top of another missiles czar, but we're not getting any missiles. The whole program lacks oomph.

"Lord knows forty billion dollars is a terrible lot of money. That's what they've asked the Congress to give them this year. Some of them seem to think it's ridiculous to suggest that Russia might hit us. If they're that sure, then they're wasting a terrible amount of money. But others feel Russia will hit us just as soon as she's sure she can get away with it without serious retaliation by us. If that's the case, forty billion dollars isn't enough.

"These are honorable men we've had appearing before us. But they're tied up in a political decision. The joint chiefs came before us to testify after Mr. McElroy cut their original estimated needs from two to four billion dollars. He had them sign a statement that what remained was sufficient. But all these gentlemen have 'reservations.' For

"As a young fellow in this town, in the days leading up to Pearl Harbor, I had an opportunity to tell President Roosevelt that I thought we weren't going far enough fast enough. Then just before the outbreak in Korea, I told the same thing to President Truman. Now I'm going on record again, this time for the benefit of President Eisenhower.

"I just never want to be in the position that Frank Knox (F. D. R.'s secretary of Navy) found himself in the day after Pearl Harbor. The American Magazine came out with an article by him saying 'we can lick them in either ocean' while the bellies of his fleet looked up at the moon."

The now declassified statement which the joint chiefs dutifully signed reads:

"Memorandum for the secretary of defense.

"Subject: Joint chiefs of staff position on the FY (fiscal year) 1960 budget.

"The joint chiefs of staff consider that the FY 1960 proposed expenditure figure of $40,945,000,000 is adequate to provide for the essential programs necessary for the defense of the nation for the period under consideration. They find no serious gaps in the key elements of the budget in its present form, but all have reservations with respect to the funding of some segments of their respective service programs."

The statement bears the signatures of Gen. N. F. Twining, USAF, chairman, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chief of staff of the Army, Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, Gen. Thomas D. White, chief of staff of the Air Force, and Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, commandant of the Marine Corps.

A document that has aroused much more ire on Capitol Hill, however, is the following memorandum to Scretary McElroy from President Eisenhower's budget director, Maurice H. Stans:

"The President will shortly present his budget for the fiscal year 1960 to the Congress. As you know, the normal process of budgeting results in recommended amounts that in many cases are less than the agency head had requested.

"It is understandable that officials and employes will feel strongly about the importance of their own agency's work, and will sometimes believe that a larger budget might be in order. Such feelings, however, must be related to an awareness that our budget resources are not adequate to accommodate in any one year all of the things that might be desired. The President is responsible for reviewing the total needs of the executive branch in the light of tax and debt policy and for deciding among competing requests for priorities. Executive branch personnel are expected to support the President in his budget recommendations.

"As you and your staff prepare to justify your portion of the budget before Congress, you will want to observe the requirements set forth at the President's direction in Bureau of the Budget Circular No. A-10. It is expected that witnesses will carefully avoid volunteering views differing from the budget, either on the record or off the record.

"While direct questions at hearings must be answered frankly, it is expected that a witness who feels that he must set forth a personal view inconsistent with the President's budget will also point out that the President's judgment on the matter was reached from his overall perspective as the head of the government, and in the light of overriding national policy. The witness should make it clear that his personal comments are not to be construed as a request for additional funds."

Ed Lahey Writes:

'My Judy Has a Date with Destiny'

Time is running out for the East and the West on the Berlin situation. May 27 is the deadline set by Russia for the Western Allies to get out of West Berlin and leave it to the Commies.

If the West refuses, it could mean war. A very bad war. Not limited. What will happen now? It's your guess.

By EDWIN A. LAHEY
Chief Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The calendar is flipping relentlessly toward the May 27 deadline for the Berlin crisis.

On that date it may become necessary for the U.S. and its Allies to decide whether to go for broke.

If the worst happens, millions of men, women and children now making plans for the summer will never enact them. They'll be radioactive clumps of charred and distorted flesh.

Everybody keeps thinking that something will turn up to resolve this crisis, since other crises have been resolved at the eleventh hour.

But suppose this wistful thinking doesn't come off?

Neither did President Eisenhower's determined statement that the Allies will not budge an inch in exercising their rights and responsibilities in Berlin.

EVERYBODY knows that war today is so terrible that neither side will start it.

They knew that in 1914, just before the war. They knew the same in 1939, just before the war. This is something that most people feel certain about just before the war starts. Ask any man who has done Sunday relief at central police headquarters.

A lot of us are old enough to die. But the thought of war gives you the twitches when you think of young people planning their lives.

My 22-year-old Judy will marry Bernie, a Georgetown medical school graduate, four days before the Berlin deadline. If we go for broke, and they miss the bombs in Bermuda, his medical career will begin with a rush.

YOU HAVE to see one of these hydrogen things go off really to know what I mean. Three years ago this spring I watched one shake the Western Pacific and throw a deathly glare over hundreds of miles of ocean.

The sight of that bomb gave some meaning to articles I had read about the pathology of nuclear bomb victims, as assembled in Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

The main points of this pathological account that I recall are that your veins and your heart and your lungs literally explode from the blast effect. The body of a victim is enveloped in a heavy layer of carbon produced by his quick burning flesh.

In the three years since I watched that pineapple go off, the scientists have probably made it better.

So mark May 27 on your calendar as an important date for yourself and your family.

Sitters Get Educated For Work

WATERVILLE, Maine —(AP)— Fourteen teenaged girls were graduated Saturday from what Thayer Hospital termed a unique school for baby sitters.

Hospital Administrator Miss Pearl R. Fisher presented certificates to the girls, all 14 or older, who have been attending classes at the hospital each Saturday morning the past five weeks.

The girls have been introduced to a variety of subjects ranging from the changing of diapers and heating of formulas to safety measures and helping children to play.

The hospital said the course originated because of "the concern hospital officials and members of the women's auxiliary have had over the lack of training for baby sitters."

Miss Louise Laney, director of the course, said she hopes to have a class in the future for boy baby sitters.

Wedding Lures Akihito's Tutor

TOKYO — (UPI) — Mrs. Elizabeth Gray Vining, the Quaker teacher who tutored Crown Prince Akihito in English for four years, will visit Tokyo for the April wedding of the prince and Miss Michiko Shoda, the newspaper Sankei reported.

Because of strict palace protocol, the Philadelphia teacher will not be on the guest list for the wedding ceremony, but she will meet the prince and his bride at parties following the ceremony.

VA Hospital 'Bed Shifting' Approved

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower has given the go-ahead for a new policy which would provide more hospital beds for veterans.

The new rules, outlined to a number of congressmen, set a limit of 125,000 on Veterans Administration hospital beds, about the same as at present. But they would permit the VA to shift beds or whole hospitals from one type of use to another.

Chairman Olin E. Teague (D., Tex.) of the House Veterans Affairs Committee said the new policy would "give a lot more beds in the long run." For example, he said, it would open up many unused beds now reserved for tuberculosis patients.

The policy of refusing to let a VA bed reserved for one purpose be used by another type patient was criticized at lengthy House hearings last year.

Kidnap-Robbers Get $11,904 Cash

RIVER EDGE, N. J. —(AP)— Three bandits kidnaped the president of a savings and loan association, forced him to open the office safe and escaped with $11,904.70.

"We know who you are," one said. "If you do what we say, you won't get hurt."

They ordered Davis at gunpoint into the back of his car, drove to his office and had him open the combination-lock door to the cubicle where the money was kept. They stuffed cash into their pockets.

"They didn't even take the $200 I had in my wallet," Davis said later.

Davis wriggled to the door of his office and shouted for help. Someone from the office next door freed him.

Street Blowing Pretty Bubbles

The people don't like the eerie hissing sounds caused by air gurgling through puddles of melted snow. They say the street's gone crazy.

But they'll have to put up with it until late spring. A quartermile long water tunnel is being built 50 feet under River Bank St.

Workmen pump air into the tunnel to clear out sulphur gas pockets. The air comes out through cracks in the street and sidewalks.

Kefauver Rejects Steel Union Slap

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver (D., Tenn.) rejected Saturday a blunt suggestion of the Steel Workers Union head that Kefauver "keep his nose out of my business."

KEFAUVER

Instead Kefauver renewed his proposal that union steel workers wage increases be limited to average productivity gains of the industry as a move to curb inflation.

Kefauver suggested that union and management representatives permit an impartial board to determine the extent of increased production and that the union then peg its wage increase requests to that figure.

David J. McDonald, president of the powerful United Steel Workers Union, when asked about Kefauver's proposal in Pittsburgh, replied:

"I wish Sen. Kefauver would learn to keep his nose out of my business."

Informed of this, Kefauver replied that McDonald's statement "dramatizes my position exactly."

"The price of steel is not just Mr. McDonald's business," Kefauver said. "It's not just the business of Mr. Roger Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel.

"It's the business of all the people."

Kefauver said that steel union limitation of wage increases to production gains, should prevent steel price increases by management. He said that if management rejected his proposal the union would be free to bargain for a share of increased profits.

Increases in the past, Kefauver said, had set off inflationary spirals that affected many industries and products, and boosted steel profits.

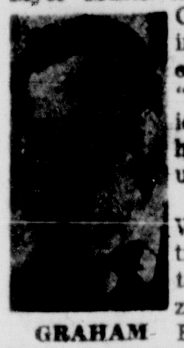
'Bodgies Widgies' Pass Up Graham

MELBOURNE, Australia — (UPI) — Teenagers dominated a crowd of 45,000 at the Sidney Myer Music bowl for a Billy Graham meeting but few of them were "Bodgies Widgies" whom Graham had particularly invited.



GRAHAM

The Bodgies Widgies, Australia's answer to American zoot suiters and English teddy boys, were more interested in Elvis Presley's new film "King Creole" showing at a city theater.

Graham arranged a special program for young people at the written request of one of the Bodgies Widgies who wrote that the cult "needed guidance."

Melbourne's juvenile crime program was illustrated earlier in the day when two 16-year-old boys stole a utility truck, lost control and knocked down two married couples walking on a suburban footpath.

One member of each of the couples was killed and the other two were injured seriously.

Oil Controls Continued

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Eisenhower Saturday ordered the voluntary oil import control program continued through March 10 to permit study of new proposals for controls.

The voluntary limitations on crude oil imports, which have been in effect in various degrees for about two years, were scheduled to expire at midnight.

The White House said Eisenhower received a report late Friday from the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization recommending new measures on controls, but the President has not had time to consider the findings.

There have been indications that a special cabinet committee had reached substantial agreement that the voluntary restraints should be replaced with compulsory import quotas.

Catholics Look at Evolution

Cardinal Attends Scientific Talk

By PAUL HOFFMAN
The New York Times Service

N. Y. Times News Service

Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, dean of the Sacred College of Cardinals, caused an academic sensation by attending a lecture at Rome University expounding that man-like creatures appeared on earth millions of years ago. Later, the lecturer, Prof. Johannes Hurzeler of Basle, Switzerland, was received in audience by Pope John XIII.

The evolutionary theories of Charles Darwin and other scientists have had a profound impact on modern thought. A fundamental concept is that organic life developed by gradual changes from earlier forms.

The periods assigned by evolutionary theories to these changes immensely exceed the biblical chronology of the creation of the world derived from literal interpretation of the book of Genesis. Hence, Darwinism and kindred systems were long rejected by Christian theologians.

The late Pope Pius XII in an encyclical issued in 1950, known as "Humani Generis" (of mankind), declared that the church did not forbid scientific research into and discussion of the theory of evolution.

The encyclical warned, however, that such studies must be limited to "inquiries into origin of the human body as coming from pre-existent and living matter — for the Catholic faith obliges us to hold that souls are immediately created by God."

Pius XII cautioned against "too free" interpretation of the Bible, and rejected assumptions "either that after Adam there existed on this earth true men who did not take their origin through natural generation from him as the first parent of all, or that he represents a certain number of parents."

Pius XII summed up church doctrine on the theory of evolution saying that it had not been fully proved and contained "fictitious tenets."

Scientists here who had been consulted by the Vatican during the last few days said they had gained the impression that its appraisal of the evolutionary theory was going "far beyond" the positions laid down in the encyclical "Humani Generis."

The scientific paper presented by Professor Hurzeler had been submitted previously to the Vatican.

Church acceptance of the premises of the evolutionary theory was seen in Cardinal Tisserant's listening to the lecture. Never before had a prince of the church set foot in the state university here.

Professor Hurzeler, curator of vertebrate paleontology at Basle University, was reporting on the preliminary evaluation of the skeleton of a four-feet-high creature dug up in a soft coal mine in Tuscany last summer.

The remains, according to Hurzeler, belonged to a being that lived more than 10 million years ago and was well on its way toward "humanization."

Baptist Rolls Top 9 Million

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — (AP) — Southern Baptist churches have more than nine million members for the first time.

The Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention announced that the total membership of 9,206,758 was a 2.7 per cent gain over 1957.

The board said Sunday School enrollment was up 1.8 per cent to 7,096,175, all gifts to the church totaled $419,619,428, and 407,892 converts were baptized last year. The number of churches cooperating with the convention increased from 31,297 in 1957 to 31,498.

'Sounding Off' Kills Cop Bill

ST. PAUL, Minn. — (AP) — A bill giving arrest powers to state liquor control agents was killed in the Minnesota Legislature amid laughter that brought down the House of Representatives.

"Whenever an officer of the liquor commissioner shall have the power of arrest, he shall immediately wear a bright red uniform, a bright red light affixed to the front of a tall white fur hat and ring continuously a large bell."

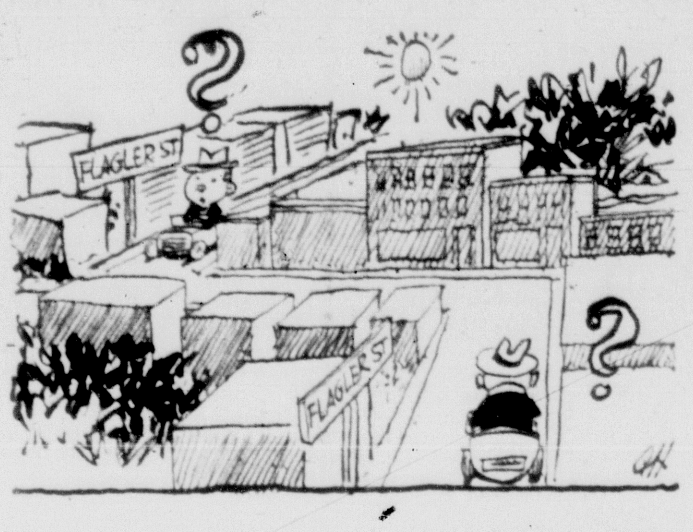
Why Flagler St. Zig-Zags



By JOHN MORTON
Herald Staff Writer

Legend says that it's the result of an off-center meeting between two cross-eyed surveyors.

M. B. Garris, who's been around here almost as long as the 'gators, finally came up with the answer.

One of them was located east of W. 17th Ave. in what was then uninhabited marshland.

Whenever a federal section line ran into a Spanish Grant, there was trouble.

The Greater Miami area, after the new century got underway, began developing in patches. One of those patches was the Spanish Grant in question—sometimes called Knowlton's Plat.

Also involved was land adjoining it on the east—a tract called Tatum Brothers' Subdivision.

When these two parcels spread to W. 17th Ave., they ran into land platted by the government.

So, to avoid confusion, they dropped Flagler St. (then Twelfth St.) back to the U. S. section line.

Planning Chief To Give Talk

Paul Watts, county planning director, will address the Presidents' Council of Miami Beach at 12:15 p.m. Monday at the Roney Plaza Hotel.

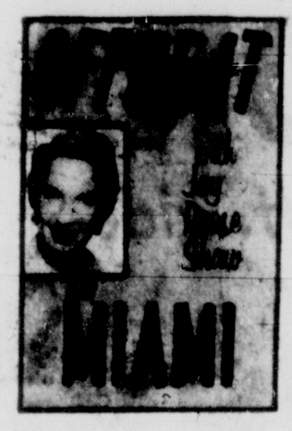
At 70 She Was Doing a Mean Rhumba, Then . . .

By JOY REESE SHAW
Herald Staff Writer



Mrs. Ann Uttley is done with dancing.

"This time I've really had a dose of it," firmly pronounced the soft-voiced lady of 70 from her bed in Mercy Hospital.

She could have danced all night, Ann Uttley. She was having a marvelous time.

Just as she had had every Thursday night at Lummus and every Saturday night at the Three Score and Ten Club.

"I was doing the rhumba," she confessed in a sort of half-whisper. "I like the rhumba and the fox-trot best. Waltzes are too slow."

"Then suddenly, boom, I fell. I don't know what happened."

"Because he said I was doing just wonderful," she remembered with a measurable mite of pride in her voice.

Mrs. Uttley was rushed to Mercy Hospital with a broken shoulder, wrist and hip — and it became a nip and tuck battle, with nurses around the clock, surgery and transfusion after transfusion.

Once, a time ago now, Mrs. Uttley tripped over a branch and broke a hip, and a vertebra, she danced back.

And once she was in an automobile accident, critically injured. Among her injuries was a crushed knee. An amputation was scheduled.

But because of one doctor's faith in a chance and Mrs. Uttley's determination, again she danced.

Mrs. Uttley sees nothing strange about flying through a rhumba at 70. She's always believed in "dancing and praying" (one makes you light-footed, the other light-hearted).

Her Methodist Sunday School Class and her two nights out have been her lease on life for a long time now, along with a strong personal philosophy:

If you have a little pleasantness, give it. If you don't you'll have none to give."

"Look what trouble I've brought to Isabel and John — the most wonderful people on earth."

Isabel and John are Mr. and Mrs. John T. Lauckhardt of 3201 Oak Ave. Lauckhardt is a former son-in-law of Mrs. Uttleys, now remarried, and has made his home her home.

"They've treated me just like a real mother," said Mrs. Uttley of the unusual relationship.

She doesn't fret about the soaring bills.

What she doesn't know is that she was caught in the hospital bed shortage — and that John and Isabel are frantic with worry.

Both work, he as an aircraft mechanic, she as a school board payroll clerk, and were ready and willing to take care of ordinary doctor bills and hospital expenses. "She's a grand, dear person. She needed us and we wanted to," said Isabel, with troubled eyes.

When complications and extra services swelled costs skyward and they realized things were getting beyond them, the couple arranged to have her transferred to Jackson Memorial as a staff patient — but no bed was available. Nor at North Dade County Hospital. And costs continued.

"She's over the worst now — and we think hospitalization insurance will take care of the rest of it," Mrs. Lauckhardt said.

"But we're up to our neck in the backlog. We don't know what to do or where to turn . . . if we'll ever catch up."

THANK YOU, MR. AND MRS. MIAMI
Twenty-two years ago, on March 1, 1937, Mrs. Wolpert and I opened a little "hole-in-the-wall" second-hand furniture store on West Flagler Street. We moved to a larger store a year later and finally in 1947, we built and moved into our present location at 1200 Coral Way at "5 Points," which is still our only store.
With great humility and appreciation I want to thank the many Miamians whose patronage and loyalty has made our continued growth possible through these 22 years.
Therefore, tomorrow from 9 A.M. to 9 P.M., Wolpert Furniture Co. at 1200 Coral Way will open their 22nd Anniversary Sale and I promise you a great array of excellent furniture values during this sale.
I will appreciate your visit.

U.S. May Seek Underground Tests

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The U.S. may move to drive nuclear bomb tests underground in an attempt to salvage the colapsing Geneva atom talks, informed sources said Saturday.

They said some top U.S. officials now believe that a ban on bomb testing in the earth's atmosphere is the most that can be hoped for from the deteriorating talks. Recent reports from Geneva have indicated the discussions are on the verge of collapse.

The conferences received a heavy blow last week when Russian Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev indicated that the Soviet will never accept the West's proposal for an inspection system to control a test suspension agreement. Khrushchev accused the West of trying to establish a military spy system inside Russian borders.

The U.S. and Britain have made it clear they will not back down on the control question. A proposal to suspend only atmospheric tests would greatly simplify the control problem by eliminating the need for monitoring underground tests — the most difficult nuclear blasts to detect.

Such a test suspension would have one great advantage. It would retard contamination of the atmosphere with radioactive fallout.

According to informed sources, two possible approaches to such a plan are under consideration in high government quarters. One would involve a proposal for such an agreement by the West at the Geneva bargaining table.

The other would involve a unilateral declaration — perhaps by President Eisenhower —that the U.S. would suspend atmospheric tests for a definite period, say three years, while negotiations for a permanent ban on them go forward.

Local government officials, business leaders and others interested in the foundation's findings are invited to the luncheon at the Biscayne Terrace Hotel.

The Ford Foundation, which supports scientific and economic research programs, has been interested in metropolitan government for some time and is making surveys of its progress in various parts of the country.

HERE ARE THE ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT CONTACT LENSES!
Facts on Vent-Air lenses taken from New Booklet "TAKE OFF THOSE GLASSES"

"Are Vent-Air lenses really invisible?"
No matter how poor your eyesight is, no matter how thick your glasses may be, no one will know you're wearing Vent-Air lenses unless you tell them so! You can't see them in your own mirror!

"How long can I wear them?"
Today's grooved Vent-Air lenses are so light, so comfortable that many men, women and children enjoy them through all their waking hours. (The initial adjustment period varies with the individual)

"Aren't the lenses hard to handle?"
Can you spare five minutes? That's all it takes for one of our Contact Lens Specialists to show you all there is to know about wearing Vent-Air lenses. With just a little practice, in no time at all you'll be putting them on and taking them off as quick as a wink.

"Is it true that I may actually get a wider field of view with Vent-Air lenses than I do with glasses?"
Absolutely! Now, you may be losing the benefit of your glasses when you look to the side. With Vent-Air lenses you have a normal field of vision, whether you're looking sideways, up, down or any direction.

"Are Vent-Air lenses worn for sports?"
Right now some of the foremost hockey and football players wear Vent-Air lenses through the most rugged action. The exclusive self-ventilating design provides for a securely fitting lens. Many swim, dive, ski, play tennis, enjoy some of the most rigorous sports with complete freedom.

"What do eye doctors think about Vent-Air lenses?"
Members of the medical and optical profession have accorded special recognition to Vent-Air lenses. The Vent-Air design has been the subject of numerous articles and considerable praise by eye specialists. In fact, Pageant magazine reported medical studies indicating that all-day wear of contact lenses may retard the possible increase of near-sightedness.

Not really. Most people don't realize that in the majority of cases the first Vent-Air prescription never has to be changed. But even if a change is needed, however, there is never any laboratory charge for it! When you consider this against the total costs you pay for examinations, new prescriptions and new glasses every year or so, you can see that in the long run Vent-Air lenses actually represent a saving.

"How about my wearing Vent-Air lenses?"
Vent-Air's pre-tested wearability means you'll learn whether you too can successfully wear Vent-Air lenses by actually wearing them BEFORE you take them! Vent-Air's are fitted by highly trained—Vent-Air trained—contact lens specialists with modern, specially designed instruments which never touch the eye.

"Is there a difference in contact lenses?"
Definitely! Vent-Air lenses are exclusively designed with four vents on the inside surface. With these vents an air space is created between the eye and the lens. In this way Vent-Air's are best suited to allow normal tear and air flow.

"What about bifocals?"
Through Vent-Air research contact lenses are now available in bifocal form. The lenses are less than ½ of an inch in diameter, completely undetectable when worn and contain the exclusive features found in Vent-Air's single prescription lens.

"How can I learn more about Vent-Air lenses?"
Just fill out the coupon below and send for the illustrated booklet "Take Off Those Glasses!". You'll discover the fascinating history of contact lenses. Learn why Vent-Air lenses are considered superior, read unsolicited quotes from doctors and Vent-Air wearers and find the answers to any and all questions you may have about changing to contact lenses.

Sheriffs to Seek Doctors' Reports

From Our Capital Bureau

TALLAHASSEE—The Florida Sheriffs Association will ask the 1959 Legislature to pass a law requiring that treatment of all gunshot wounds or other wounds indicating violence be reported to the county sheriff.

MADIGAN

The bill would require "the immediate report to the sheriff by doctors, nurses, hospitals, of such treatment or the request for treatment."

John Madigan, attorney for the Sheriffs Association, said, "Most states have such a law. We believe it would aid law enforcement authorities."

Madigan said that while doctors, nurses and hospitals do cooperate with investigating officers there are many cases where no report is made until weeks or months after medical care has been received.

The bill would make failure to report such treatment or request for treatment a misdemeanor and provide for a six-month jail term or fine not to exceed $100.

In Miami, Dr. Robert Keiser, president of the Dade County Medical Association, said his group "favors the bill in principle" but would like to see it extended to cover other crimes, including poisoning and abortion.

"But such a law would have to be spelled out very carefully or it could be worked into a horrible mess of paperwork," said Dr. Keiser, who feels that doctors should still maintain some discretion over which cases they report.

Clinical Forum

Dr. James Henry Ferguson of the University of Miami School of Medicine will be a panelist for the mid-year clinical conference of the American Association of Obstretricians and Gynecologists. The conference will be in San Francisco March 13-14.

Carmel to Speak

Isaac Carmel will be guest speaker Tuesday at the luncheon of the Miami Beach Lodge, B'nai B'rith. The meeting will be at noon at the diLido Hotel.

He Puts Latin To Fowl Use

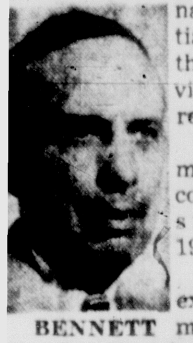
U.S. Executions At Record Low



BENNETT

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Federal Bureau of Prisons reported Saturday that fewer prisoners were executed in the nation's penitentiaries last year than in any previous year on record.

The government began compiling such statistics in 1930.

There were 48 executions, all male, most of them in the electric chair. The previous low was 62 in 1953.

Bureau Director James V. Bennett said there had been an almost steady decline since the 1930-39 decade when the annual average was 167.

The 1958 executions, involved 40 sentences for murder, seven—all Negro—for rape, and one—in Texas—for armed robbery. The racial ratio in the murder executions was 20 whites, 19 Negroes, and one Filipino.

Poet to Speak

Shlomo Shenhod, an Israeli poet, will address a seminar of Hebrew teachers and Hebraists at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Bureau of Jewish Education, 135 NW Third Ave.

Texas Demo Backs Ike's Stand on Nike

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Administration rejection of the Armys' plan for quick production of the Nike-Zeus missile drew vigorous endorsement Saturday from the Democratic chairman of a House subcommittee on defense funds:

"I agree with the President that we whould not provide funds at this time to go into production of the anti-missile missile," said Rep. George Mahon (D., Tex.). "I feel very strongly about this."

Mahon spoke in an interview as Rep. Overton Brooks (D., La.), head of the House Space Committee, called Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy and Gen. Nathan Twining for questioning Monday in the row over the Army project. Twinin is chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The space committee has heard Army research chiefs say they were rebuffed in a plea for 730 million dollars to start production on what they pictured as a promising weapon for shooting down intercontinental ballistic missiles fired at the U.S.

Brooks agreed the Nike-Zeus has yet to be proved workable — a central point in the administration argument — but he said production should be pushed for the sake of doing what can be done to prevent the U.S. from standing defenseless against Soviet ICBMs.

McElroy has taken the position that, while the Nike-Zeus system would cost untold billions of dollars, technical rather than budget reasons are responsible for holding off production.

And Dr. Herbert York, the Defense Departments top scientist, said, putting the weapon into production would tend to slow up development work needed to make it worthwhile.

Mailbox Pickups Revised

By ARTHUR JOHNSEY
Herald Staff Writer

Streamlining of mailbox pickup schedules throughout Miami has speeded delivery of your letters to other cities, postal authorities said Saturday.

DUNLAP

The changes were based on research into the effect of business and population growth, said Acting Postmaster Eugene Dunlap.

From these studies of where the mail originates in quantity, the Miami Post Office has increased mail pickups on many key boulevards and revised times of pickup to fit the needs, said Dunlap.

In addition, 60 more collection boxes have been placed.

The studies showed that the Post Office had been getting 80 per cent of the mail between 5 and 8 p.m. The problem was to "tie it out" in time to meet departure times of planes and trains.

The schedules were changed to cut this load.

In making the adjustments timing and pickups have been improved in nearly all areas, Dunlap said. In isolated sections, he said, the number of daily pickups has been cut from four to three. These are areas where the change could be made without delay in the time of dispatching any substantial quantities of mail, he said.

Hoaxer Stirs Chaos In London

Many passengers bound for the continent missed the night ferry or traveled without their bags.

The hoaxer, calling himself Prof. Peter Brock, said he was staying at the Dorchester Hotel and would hurry to pick up the canister. He didn't turn up and a quick check showed no such guest at the Dorchester.

Railroad officials took no chances. They closed the baggage office and mounted a police guard. Two geiger counter checks were negative and the baggage room finally was reopened, three hours after the boat train had left.

Demo Chief Acquitted

LEWISBURG, Pa.—(P)—Rep. William J. Green Jr. (D., Pa.) and two others were acquitted of charges they conspired to defraud the government.

A. U.S. District Court jury deliberated two hours and 57 minutes before returning its verdict to Judge Frederick V. Fullmer at the end of the trial's seventh week.

Fullmer previously had acquitted four others who also were charged with conspiring to defraud the government in construction of the 33 million dollar Army Signal Corps depot at Tobyhanna, Pa.

Freed with Green, 48-year-old Philadelphia Democratic chairman and one of the most powerful figures in Pennsylvania politics, were John P. Gilboy, 44, whose Scranton firm was architect-engineer for the project, and Frederick P. Raff, 64, Hartford, Conn., plumbing and heating contractor at Tobyhanna.

Legislative Hearings Set

Dade legislators will have public hearings Monday and Tuesday to consider proposed legislative bills for the 1959 session opening April 7 in Tallahassee.

The hearings will be in the Miami City Commission meeting room in the Civic Center, just northeast of the 12th Ave. bridge. Delegation Attorney Moie J. L. Tendrich is handling the agenda.

Monday's session will begin at 2 p.m. On Tuesday, the legislators will convene at 10 a.m.

Rifles for Space-Age Outfit?

By ARTHUR JOHNSEY
Herald Staff Writer

A space-age outfit, oddly enough, is the only government agency that's showed any interest in those antiquated guns seized by customs officials from Fidel Castro's Cuban rebels here.

The office of the Collector of Customs said the Atomic Energy Commission has asked for and obtained a small supply of rifles and ammunition from the warehouse here.

Why the AEC wants the old weapons was a mystery. There is nary an A-bomb in the lot.

The Defense Department doesn't want them. It is the government agency that has first call on all seized rifles, machine guns, mortars and ammunition.

But it has ignored the opportunity to take them for a long time. Some of the guns were obtained months ago for use by the Coast Guard.

And so far the new government of Cuba has entered no claims, customs officials say.

While private citizens have asked to be allowed to bid, no such bidding has been authorized.

. . . Morris Engle leaves Tangiers

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

Morris Engle, bigtime Youngstown, Ohio, gambling operator, has joined the growing list of racketeers who now call the Gold Coast home.

Engle, with his brothers Jerry and Zollie, ruled a gambling empire in the Ohio city for more than two decades.

But since last September he has been operating the snazzy barrom at the Tangiers Motel at 18695 Collins Ave. behind a mask of relative anonymity.

Wheel on Wall

The owners of the motel say even they didn't know of his background as a former Ohio gambling lord with a string of arrests reaching back to the depression days of the 1930's.

Although he has left his Youngstwon haunts, Engle still maintains a home there, as well as another one at Hollywood where he lives in suburban serenity.

"A fellow is in the rackets and then goes straight but they won't leave him alone, mused Engle.

Speaking of his latest venture, he said:

"I just lease the bar. I don't have any money in the motel. I wish I did."

Irvin Pollak, who owns the Tangiers along with Bernard Becker, declared that Engle "runs the bar as a concession."

"I don't know anything about Eagle's background or that he had been a gambler," said Pollak. "He seems to be a nice guy. I first met him when he was a customer of mine."

A check with the Miami office of the State Beverage Department disclosed that Engle has neither registered nor been fingerprinted with the agency to obey Florida law.

Reported D. E. Yund, director of the Miami office:

"We have no record of Engle in our files. By law he is not allowed to work there until he has been cleared."

Yund further points out that Florida law requires a bar operator to be of "good moral character." Another provision provides that upon conviction of a felony he is prohibited from running a bar for the next 15 years.

Headquarters for his Youngstown activities was in suburban Wickliffe, where he operated the Bluebird Athletic Club, a spot raided with monotonous regularity. In February 1939 he was indicted by the Mahoning County Grand Jury on three gambling counts.

Engle pleaded guilty to each count and was fined $150 and costs.

Sheriff's deputies raided the club later in 1939 and again in 1941.

In 1949 Engle switched his operations to his home, just one block from his club. On Jan. 26, raiders found a teletype machine in the cellar, three telephones and a pile of racing forms. This time he was fined $100 and costs.

In December 1949 Engle was linked with a bookie joint set up behind a lumber company.

In answer to telephone calls inquiring about lumber Engle replied he was in the business of "building houses."

When asked about building a house, he claimed he sold lumber.

Then in October 1950 Engle was pinched for gambling at a place he ran called the Club 18. He was fined $100 and costs.

After the Club 18 folded — at the property owner's request — Engle opened the Bluebird Inn as a new gambling center.

Engle contends he is no longer in the bookie business.

Bottle Smashes His Windshield

Miami police sought three teenagers Saturday for throwing a beer bottle through the windshield of a car driven by Columbus L. Horvitt, of 1154 NW 116th St.

Horvitt said the three were in a small car and threw the bottle at SW 27th Ave. and S. Dixie Highway.

Teamsters Set Up Picket Lines

Hoffa Has Foot in Hotels' Doors

By GENE MILLER
Herald Staff Writer

Jimmy Hoffa's Teamsters stuck a big foot inside the front door of Miami Beach's lush hotel industry Saturday. Picket lines went up.

Just as the crucial get-out-of-hock season hit a peak, the scandal-tinged union reopened a carefully-mapped drive to sign up doormen and car "runners."

And some hotel owners, fearing Teamster-controlled delivery trucks will cut off service, seemed ready to accept Hoffa without a peep.

Two pickets from Local 320 meandered up and own the sidewalk at the Carillon. The same thing happened Friday at the Seville, Sea Isle, Saxony and Empress.

It was a deceptively mild show of force, a notice from the Teamsters they mean business. A few delivery trucks didn't deliver.

The Teamsters called them off when door concession men agreed to meet Monday and talk about "recognition."

But those are only the surface facts.

The picketed hotels tie-in to many more.

Edward Morse, for example, who runs the Carillon door as Morse Auto Rentals, Inc., also has concessions at the Montmarte, Bal Harbour, Coronada, Kenilworth, Kenilworth House, Golden Gate and the Ivanhoe.

"I don't want to talk about it at all until I see our lawyers," he said.

Sol Frankel, of Pershing Auto Rentals, Inc., has concessions at 15 hotels including the Shelborne, DiLido, Seville, Saxony, Sea Isle and Empress.

"There is no way we can get out of it," said Frankel. "The Teamsters can get away with anything. Ten of my men have already signed up."

Frankel blamed much of his woe on pressure from the hotel owners. "They're giving us all the trouble," he said.

Bidders, like Frankel and Morse, pay anywhere up to $75,000 a year for the right to park and rent cars to tourists at the doors.

Only the Americana and the Fontainebleau run their own door concessions. And Teamsters say they plan to picket those two also.

Six said they knew nothing about Hoffa's newest drive. Seven did, and one said he was a Teamster member.

Eleven of 14 said they were not interested in joining—and all but one said he would if it meant his job.

Slayer Hunt Is In Vain

Case Parallels Famed Killing

The search for the killer of May Louise Meslener, like another long unsolved Miami murder, led nowhere Saturday.

Despite scores of tips, police frankly admitted they were virtually clueless.

Mrs. Meslener was murdered some time Monday night or Tuesday, police believe. She disappeared after leaving her job at the National Airlines office at International Airport about 7:36 p.m. Monday. Her trail ends there.

Mrs. Newman, a young and beautiful motel clerk, was found dead on a little-used Ojus road. Two slugs had crashed through her right temple.

Mrs. Meslener was also shot in the right temple. She was also 23, and an attractive clerk for an airline. Her body was found near a lonely "lover's lane" road.

Police, however, attached no significance to the two.

Their most common denominator was the fact they are unsolved.

At one point Saturday police were hopeful. Divers found a submerged car in a rockpit at NW 50th St. and 77th Ave. It turned out to be the wrong one.

Mrs. Meslener's car, still missing, is a 1958 two-toned blue Nash rambler.

A tip came from St. Augustine police Saturday. They had found bloody clothes. But a check showed they were found before Mrs. Meslener disappeared.

Metro homicide has received uncounted calls from persons who said they heard women screaming Monday night.

"We're checking everything," said one detective, "but we've had so many calls we need 500 cops to check out the screams."

Lewd Films Charge Filed By Police

The owner of a Miami Beach theater was arrested Saturday night for showing what police called lewd movies.

Police booked Martin Kaplan, 31, owner of the Variety Theater at 550 Washington Ave., on a charge of showing motion pictures tending to corrupt the morals of youth.

They said scenes included a bedroom scene with "flagrant suggestion," a swimming pool shot which displayed an "impassioned embrace" and other sequences with "seductive poses."

Miami Beach Detectives John Markus and Ed Patton also picked up two boys, 15 and 16, at the movie. The theater was advertising the features as open to "adults only."

Friday, Miami Beach Councilman Mel Richard condemned the admission of students to lewd and lascivious movies in a general attack on hoods, crime and loose morals.

Four Grab Man, Take His Wallet

Ward F. Reineheart, of 127 NW 23rd St., told police Saturday four Negroes grabbed him and took his wallet and six dollars while he was walking home near NW Third Ave. and 19th St. He said the four fled up an alley.

Window Pain

When John Papp, 1801 SW 31st Ave., hopped into his car to go to work Saturday morning he found something the windshield wiper couldn't flip away. Sometime during the night, vandals hurled a football-sized hunk of coral rock into the front glass, Papp told Miami police. He estimated damage at $200.

Nuclear Age School To Open Here in Fall

'Numbers' Game Beat Out Football

By PHIL MEYER
Herald Education Writer

A new no-nonsense high school, whose pupils will drill with calculus instead of footballs, will open here in the fall, Dade school officials disclosed Saturday.

Central High School, now under construction at NW 95th St. near 17th Ave., will have a tough, math-packed curriculum to prepare Dade youngsters for careers in science and engineering.

Scheduled to open in September, the school will offer three course sequences, including the hard-hitting "engineering, science and technical curriculum."

It will have no football team, according to Thomas F. Lynch, principal of Miami Technical High School, who will move over to the new school in the fall.

LYNCH

Entrance requirements will include a B average in the last year of junior High school, a score in the top 40 per cent on either achievement or intelligence tests, and similar scores on tests of reading and arithmetic ability.

Unlike other Dade high schools which operate on a three-year basis, it will accept students after the eighth grade and give them intensive training in science and math for four years, Lynch said.

"A student who finishes should qualify for any college in the country," he said.

The new science program is an outgrowth of last year's town hall meetings held by the school board to see what Dade Countians wanted to do to meet the challenge of Russia's rocket program.

"We can meet anything the Russians put out," said Lynch as he described the new course sequence. "We can match them all the way."

The two sequences to be offered in addition to the science curriculum are indistrial education and business education. Both will follow the regular three-year senior high system.

Even the industrial sequence will have special entrance requirements, Lynch said. Prospective students will need to earn C averages in the last year of junior high and score in the upper half in the test battery.

"People have mistakenly thought of industrial courses as designed for dull students," said Lynch. "We're swinging the pendulum hard the other way."

There will be no special requirements for the business sequence. It will include courses in stenography, business machine operation, bookkeeping, and clerical work.

Students in the science program will take a tough 23-unit schedule, compared to 20 units required for graduation from other Dade high schools. The long list of required courses includes four years of English, three of social studies, three of science, four years of mathematics, and four years of "technical science" courses.

Included in the required math will be a course called "mathematical analysis" which will cover such esoteric subjects as analytical geometry, sets, and calculus. An advanced physics course will be offered which will introduce students to nuclear science.

Emphasizing the "no-nonsense" atmosphere of the new school, Lynch said it will have no football team for the first few years, anyway.

"The academic program comes first," he said. "And we will have other sports, including basketball and track."

Within the engineering science curriculum, four specialized areas will be covered. They are:

Architecture, electronics technology, machine technology, and advertising arts and design.

Completion of any of these programs will prepare a pupil for a related college major, or, if he needs to earn money before going on to college, for a job in the field.

Hike in Levies May Be Asked

Budget Demands Threaten That Metro Tax Reduction

By LEO ADDE
Herald Staff Writer

The 1.1 mill tax reduction which Metro handed Dade County taxpayers is teetering under demands for a bigger 1959-60 budget.

The administration is prepared to ask the Metro Commission to approve a tax raise.

Those situations came to light as the commission named a budget-probe committee and County Manager O. W. Campbell's budget chiefs got ready for Monday's first hearing of new budget requests.

GORDON

"I pinned (Budget Director) Harry Toulmin down, and he told me taxes would go up next fiscal year," Commissioner Alex Gordon, chairman of the budget committee, said.

Toulmin told The Herald, "I can't confirm that. There can be no reliable prediction on next year's taxes before June 1."

But another high budget official, who declined to be named, said, "Inflation is hurting us. In order to run the same Metro establishment we have now, we will need more tax dollars next year."

Campbell described his position on tax raises as "flexible — not committed either to holding the line or to raising taxes."

A week ago Campbell warned commissioners they would have to find new sources of county income next year, or else turn down urgent demands for expansion of Metro services.

The county has a current payroll of about 6,000 employes, earning 1.5 million dollars a month. Metro is now operating on $43,068,319 dollars, some four million more than the county government cost the year before.

In its first full year, Metro managed to cut 1.1 mill off property taxes — the first cut in county millage in 16 years. Dade countains now pay about $40 in property taxes for each $1,000 of assessed valuation. Metro's share of this is $15.90.

Gordon's budget probers "will look for weak spots in the budget while it is being put together," he said, "and not wait for the whole complicated package to be dumped in our laps all at once."

"We will be looking for answers about county expenses which I haven't been able to get from Campbell," Gordon said.

Gordon chose Commissioners John McLeod and Robert Haverfield for the budget committee. "I wanted men with the courage of their convictions," Gordon said.

At Thursday's commission meeting, Gordon told McLeod, with whom he has had many acid exchanges, "I need you on this committee. You know more about county government operations than any man on the commission."

On Monday, the Gordon committee holds its first meeting, and Toulmin receives the first 1959-60 budget requests from Metro departments.

And March Looks Just as Good

We've Had It--the Hottest February

KINDA HOT TODAY, EH?
CROSS

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

The Weather Bureau confirmed Saturday what everybody suspected all along: this February was the hottest on record.

And if Weather Bureau forecasts hold up, March can be just as good.

Cold?

"There's not a bit in sight," said Neuman.

Neuman added up the February readings recorded at the Weather Bureau's airport station — where Miami's official temperature is taken — and found the average for the month was 75.4 degrees.

That's 6.7 degrees higher than the 68.7 "normal" average for the month — and a whopping 17 degrees warmer than the 59.4 average of February, 1958, when all South Florida shivered in one economy-crippling cold wave after another.

Figures for Miami Beach haven't been compiled by the Weather Bureau, but Neuman said "there's no doubt this will be the hottest February on record."

The second hottest February since the Weather Bureau started keeping records in 1939 was in 1957, when the average was 72.7.

Other facts about February:

The temperature at night never went below 60, and was over 80 on 23 out of 28 days. Miami wound up the month Saturday with an 85-degree high.

Since 1939, Neuman said, there have been only six winters when the average for February was over 70.

This January was also warmer than January of 1958. Last year, the January average was 61.4. This year, it was 66.5 degrees.

What about March?

Normal for the month—and the Weather Bureau expects it to be at least that—is 81.3 degrees in the daytime and 61.2 at night at the airport—an average of 71.3 degrees. At Miami Beach, the March norm is 77.8 degrees in the day and 66.6 at night for a 72.2-degree average.

University Fete Scheduled Today

The fifth annual reception for the Albert Einstein College of Medicine of Yeshiva University will be tonight in the Fontainebleau Hotel.

Nathaniel L. Goldstein, former attorney general of New York, and George Frankel, philanthropist, will be co-hosts. Frankel will receive the second annual service award at the reception. Speaker will be George Jessel, a friend of the late Albert Einstein, for whom the college was named.

Swedish Sailors To Be Guests

The Miami Beach Chamber of Commerce will entertain 45 midshipmen and 12 officers of the Swedish Navy today with a morning-to-midnight schedule of sightseeing and recreation.

Stopping at Key West on a training cruise, the men are scheduled to arrive by plane in the morning and will be shown Hialeah race track and the new Miami International Airport terminal building before lunch.

Teamsters Bait Dade Employes

Out-of-town Teamsters organizers popped up in Miami Beach Saturday with another bid to line up Dade's government workers and promised $500 across-the-board pay raises as bait.

"They'll never get to first base with it," said Martin Kirkland, head of Miami's 600-member General Employes Association.

"They're way out of their depth here," added Lee Tafel, agent for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes and some 1,800 Metro wrokers.

"They're just looking for members to fatten their coffers," Tafel said.

Henry Feinstein, president of the Public Employes Local 237 of New York Teamsters, outlined the new plans after moving into the office of Miami Beach Councilman Harold Shapiro. The councilman is the Teamsters attorney here.

Main aim of Feinstein's plans is a $500 raise for each of the county and city employes, adjustments in the work week, bonuses and a merit system.

"They've got the money to back up a drive," Tafel said. "But how well it will work out remains to be seen."

He's Got Capital Guessing

Caldwell in Good Position To Run for Governor Again

By HAROLD PARR

TALLAHASSEE—(AP)—Millard Caldwell has maneuvered himself into an advantageous position in the 1960 sweepstakes for governor. He has other potential candidates worried.

CALDWELL

Almost the first thing a capitol newsman hears when he bumps into one of the governorship hopefuls is the question: "What's Millard going to do?"

Apparently no one has the answer except the tall, stern man who was governor from 1945 to 1949. And it well could be he doesn't yet know himself.

"I certainly don't want to run, and right now I don't think I will, but—," he said, while running through the text of a speech he was preparing to deliver.

Did the "but" mean some situation might develop which would put him in the field?

There is no doubt Caldwell's massive figure and biting oratory are becoming well-known throughout Florida again.

Caldwell has one main theme—state's rights. But he has been branching out, adding sharp attacks on governmental spending and leadership to criticism of what he charges is the U.S. Supreme Court's usurpation of power.

Caldwell, too has been blasting Collins, without naming him. Caldwell long has been at odds with Collins. Their political feud goes back to Caldwell's successful 1944 campaign for governor, when Collins served as Leon County campaign manager for Ernest Graham, former State Senator from Dade County.

Caldwell hasn't been a big figure on the state scene since leaving the governorship. He backed the late Dan McCarty as his successor, but Fuller Warren grabbed the plum.

When McCarty tried again, and won, Caldwell was in the corner of former Supreme Court Justice Alto Adams.

Caldwell sat out the Johns-Collins-Odham campaign in 1954. Caldwell was silent, too, three years ago when Collins whipped Bryant, Warren and Sumter Lowry of Tampa.

EAL's Move To Be Delayed

It will be a month or more before Eastern Air Lines move into the new International Terminal, company officials said Saturday.

Delays in construction of taxiways and maintenance areas for Eastern is keeping the airline out of the area assigned to it in the multi-million-dollar building housing 22 other carriers.

Eastern will continue to operate from its own 36th St. terminal "until we are certain we can give our passengers the same conveniences and efficiency we're giving them now," a spokesman said.

He Has a Chance At the Top Job

Gov. Meyner of New Jersey Has Proven His Ability

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

What chance has a "businessman" to be the next president of the U.S.?

Better than average, if his name happens to be Robert B. Meyner.

Robert B. Meyner
. . . keeps state solvent

However, his administration, like that of Gov. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut, is run on a business-like basis —a factor which is beginning to catch more than passing notice on the national political and economic fronts.

The reason?

The other day at the Diplomat Hotel in Hallandale we asked the governor to explain his successful formula.

"We try, above all, to be frugal," he declared.

"We have fewer state employes than 45 of the other states.

"When we make an appropriation for a department or a project, we strive not only to operate within that appropriation but to save some of the money.

"We don't spend it just because it is there. We spend the full appropriation only if it is needed."

Meyner noted that his administration has come through each of the last few years with from one to three million dollars surplus.

All this is done without a sales tax or increased taxes.

What are the main sources of New Jersey's revenue?

Meyner named these:

Driver licenses $3. Florida's is $1.25.

Other main sources of revenue in New Jersey include a corporate income tax of 1¾ per cent; a five-cent cigaret tax and a tax on alcoholic beverages, racing and miscelleanous corporations.

New Jersey's annual budget is about 400 million dollars compared to Florida's two-year budget for 1959-61 estimated at 716 million dollars.

Meyner said he attributes much of New Jersey's "in-the-black" operation to "careful selection of key people who have proven ability to do the kind of a job needed."

The husky New Jersey chief executive is rated as a "liberal" politically, yet he appears conservative in his "Will Rogers" type of appeal. At 50 —definitely in the preferable Presidential age bracket—he looks 10 years younger.

He is a long-shot for the Democratic nomination, just as is any politician today. But he is worth keeping an eye on.

Just Brush On Down To Vizcaya

Sport a canvas and a paint brush and you can get into Vizcaya for free today. But even if you're not an artist you can get in for almost the same price.

It's all part of a long-heralded plan to open the beauties of Dade's beautiful park to all the people, instead of just those who could spare $1.75 for a ramble in Vizcaya's formal Italian gardens.

Instead of that hefty chunk of change, the entrance fee for Vizcaya's grounds — starting today — will only be 25 cents.

For those who also want to stroll through Vizcaya's majestic palace and view the wall-to-wall collection of paintings, sculpture and tapestry masterpieces, there will be an additional dollar charged at the door.

But if you're content to look at the former Deering home from the outside, there will be plenty of painting to see on the grounds themselves.

Because besides being bargain day at Vizcaya, today will also be "Artists' Day."

Large numbers of Dade's 500 working artists — admitted free by displaying their working materials — will be scattered about the expansive grounds, recording the return of spring at Vizcaya.

The Artists' Day project, sponsored by the Dade Parks Department and the Miami Art League, will be climaxed next Sunday by a clothes line exhibition and sale of the paintings done today.

Incubator's Just Fine After This

CHICAGO—(AP)—A new-born baby girl survived a rough time in the first hours of her life.

The baby, after being born at home 2½ months prematurely, revived by a fire rescue squad and surviving an auto collision that hospitalized five adults, was snug in an incubator in a suburban Evanston hospital.

The infant was born to Mrs. Ardell Daily, 32, and her husband, John, of suburban Skokie. Three firemen rushed to the home at the call of Dr. Delos R. Cozad and administered oxygen for 20 minutes before taking the baby to a hospital.

Fireman Bernard Weber, 33, was holding the infant in the rear seat of a police car when it collided with another car. He and the baby were uninjured and were taken to the hospital in another police car.

However, two policemen and all three occupants of the second car were treated at an Evanston hospital for injuries.

Washington Club Raided

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Police staged a numbers raid at the Metropolitan Club, the oldest and one of the most exclusive men's clubs here.

Raiders moving in to halt numbers betting by club employes operated in such a hush-hush fashion club members didn't know what was going on. Neither did six employes until they were charged with operating a lottery.

Club officials helped plan the raid. They found it disconcerting, they said, to see laborers, cab drivers and other non-members walk into the club to place bets.

Two Jobs Are Let In Park

Two contracts for additional development work in Everglades National Park have been awarded, according to Warren F. Hamilton, superintendent.

The Edelblut Construction Co., of Fort Myers, received the first for $83,944.67, to construct elevated trails at Mahogany Hammock, Pa-ha-okee Overlook, and Mangrove Trail.

The Eddy Construction Co., of Homestead, was awarded the second contract for construction of an equipment storage and shop building at Flamingo.

Party Gag May Cost Man's Eye

GLENDALE, Calif. —(AP)— A party guest pulled the pin on a phosphorous hand grenade early Saturday and rolled it into the living room of an apartment.

Lloyd A. Wilson, 23, clutched the grenade to his chest, dove onto a couch and absorbed the fiery explosion with his body.

He was burned seriously on his face, chest, arms and hands, and is threatened with blindness in one eye.

When Wilson saw the grenade roll in, he said, he knew there was a seven-second interval before explosion. He ran toward the apartment door but found it locked with a chain latch.

"I was counting to myself," he told police at a hospital. "I had got to five and I knew I had only two seconds to go so I did what I knew I had to."

He threw himself onto the couch with the grenade beneath him.

Burned and blinded, Wilson stumbled to a window and fell 18 feet to the ground.

Annual Red Cross Campaign

Ike to Open Fund Drive

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The American Red Cross announced Saturday that President Eisenhower will launch its 1959 drive for 95 million dollars with a special radio-television appeal.

The President's statement on behalf of the annual Red Cross drive will be broadcast over all nationwide networks at various times tonight.

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, Red Cross president, said some two million volunteers will begin a month long campaign Monday morning in an effort to raise 10 million dollars more than the organization raised last year. He said the drive will be the "most critical" in Red Cross history.

"With the swift pace of world events and the skyrocketing growth of the nation's population," Gruenther said; "the American Red Cross faces a bigger job with each passing year."

Business? Generally It's Good

TALLAHASSEE — (AP) — More than 1½ million tourists streamed into Florida by automobile during January, the State Development Commission reported Saturday.

The commission said that 647,980 cars carrying winter visitors entered the state during the month. Each car carried an average of 2.5 persons. That means that 1,619,550 tourists drove into Florida.

The figures were from a survey, conducted by the State Road Department at the request of the commission. Mechanical counters and car checkers were placed on all federal and state roads leading into Florida from Georgia and Alabama. The counts were made on a seven day a week, 24 hours a day basis.

However, last winter's persistent cold may still be having its effect on the resort business here. It's likely a lot of potential visitors, nursing memories of last season's shivers, are fearful of being nipped again.

Sarasota — Tourist inquiries are up 25 per cent and registrations up 15 per cent over last year. However, business is still off in comparison to seasonal peaks before last winter.

Jacksonville Beach — Expecting its biggest season yet, with some tourists saying they plan to make longer visits than usual.

Fort Myers — Tourist attractions report business down 10 per cent, but traffic is about 4,000 cars a day more than last year. Dog track attendance is up and Edison Pageant of Light drew the biggest crowd in its history.

Tampa — Tourist business was off before Christmas, but has reached a normal level since. Dog track attendance is almost what it was last year.

Daytona Beach — Business received big boost from opening of the Daytona International Speedway. Improvement has been noticed since Christmas.

St. Augustine — Tourist business is off considerably, even in contrast with last year. No theories advanced as to cause.

Fort Lauderdale — January was slow, but February was much better than last year. Advance reservations are heavy through April.

Tallahassee — An inland city, it has no resort hotels. However, tourist courts report more business than any time last year.

Extension Of Route 9 Demanded

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Staff Writer

WEST PALM BEACH — How long will Palm Beach and Broward Counties have to wait for State Rd. 9?

The road, now completed in Dade County, terminates at Hollywood in Broward County. SR 9 has been designated as the route for the federal interstate highway. There's the wrinkle.

Government leaders in Dade, Palm Beach and Broward want to see SR 9 extended through Palm Beach County in any way — as a limited access expressway or just a plain old north-south highway.

At a Tri-County Governmental League meeting here this weekend, leaders from Dade, Broward and Palm Beach Counties complained the state was giving them the run-around on SR 9.

George Peterson, chairman of Broward County commissioners, opined: "The State Road Department has two budgets — the budget named desire and the one they use to build roads."

The league is demanding a five-party meeting to ascertain the status of SR 9, which is considered vital to transportation in the tri-county area.

The meeting would include representatives from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, the State Road Department, the Sunshine Parkway, the governor's office, and the Tri-County Governmental League.

Lake Lytal, chairman of Palm Beach County commissioners, said he has been led to believe Palm Beach County will have its first link of SR 9 in two years.

Canadian Visitor Struck by Car

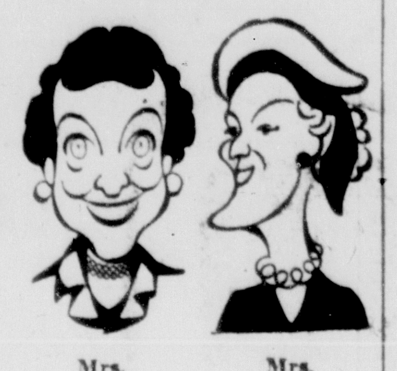
Jeanne Minogue, 59, of Montreal, registered at a motel at 11340 Biscayne Blvd., was taken to North Shore Hospital for treatment of a fractured skull, broken arm and leg and other injuries.

Metro Road Patrol Officer Robert Kingman said the woman was struck by a car driven by Joseph A. Fourier, 43, of 555 NE 93rd St., as she crossed the boulevard in the middle of the 11300 block. No charge was filed against Fourier.

Dig That Patrons List

Nation's Capitol Will Be 'Jumping'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Official Washington, long attuned to the spoken political word as a kind of music, is going to try its ear on some jazz starting today.



Mrs. Eisenhower Mrs. Nixon

Patrons of the Washington Jazz Jubilee include some names you wouldn't think of as cool cats:

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, Mrs. Earl Warren, Mrs. John Foster Dulles, 22 ambassadors and their wives, seven cabinet officers and their wives, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and his wife, Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D., Tex.).

Washington's first jazz concert with such prominent backing is being arranged by a group of congressional wives raising money for Friendship House, a settlement house on Capitol Hill. The jubilee chairman is Mrs. Richard Bolling, wife of the Democratic representative from Missouri.

A band of jazz greats will shake the rafters of a Washington hotel ballroom on the night of March 16. What Mrs. Bolling calls "an uptown level" will be supplied by the Library of Congress and the National Gallery of Art.

Marshall Stearns, literature professor at Hunter College and writer on jazz, will lecture on the subject at the Art Gallery today.

On Monday the Library of Congress will open an exhibit, "Seven Ages of Jazz," to trace its course from the early folk music to the Carnegie Hall.

Why jazz jubilee in Washington?

"We wanted something new—the benefit circuit has been so overdone," Mrs. Bolling said. "The patrons aren't jazz buffs, but they're really glad to know what it's all about."

Berlin Advice Rolls In

Let Ike Run Show Fulbright Warns

WASHINGTON —(UPI)— Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee warned Saturday night that a continuing flood of unsought congressional advice on Berlin "will cause nothing but trouble" for President Eisenhower.

"No football team can expect to win a game with every man his own quarterback," the Arkansas Democrat said.

Fulbright apparently referred to proposals by two non-members of his group, Sens. Jacob K. Javits (R., N.Y.) and Thomas J. Dodd (D., Conn.) that the committee adopt a resolution for dealing with the Berlin crisis.

Congress, he said, should leave foreign policy to the President even though everyone wants to help during the illness of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Even as Fulbright spoke out, Javits and Dodd issued a joint statement urging prompt action on their resolutions. And Sen. Wayne L. Morse (D., Ore.), a committee member, came forth with a two-point stand for dealing with the crisis.

Fulbright said in a statement that "to force the President into a negotiating straitjacket or to overwhelm him—and the world — with uncoordinated and perhaps conflicting advice would cause nothing but trouble."

500,000 Rally To Shah's Side

TEHRAN — (AP) — Thousands of Iranians demonstrated Saturday in support of Shan Mohammed Reza Pahlevi. Tehran radio estimated the crowd at 500,000.

The demonstration was called to answer statements by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev that the shah lacks support of the people. Khrushchev made the statement in criticizing Iran's decision to negotiate a military pact with the U.S.

Sunshine State Parkway Sets All-Time Record for Month

The Sunshine State Parkway's January traffic set all-time records in revenue, vehicles and mileage for that month — a good reflection of South Florida's booming tourist business. Toll gates took in $444,288.61 during the 31 days from 339,372 automobiles, trucks and motor scooters, according to Thomas B. Manuel, chairman of the Turnpike Authority. This compares with a $418,351.89 revenue in January, 1958. This was a $25,936.72 increase over revenues in January, 1958, when anti-freeze was almost a prerequisite for Florida motorists. The money came from 54,396 additional automobiles. With reduced operating expenses, Manuel said, the increased traffic meant a 16 per cent gain in net revenue for January, 1959, over the same month in '58. Most of January's big dollar boost came from private motorists who contributed $489,634 compared to $54,634 revenue from trucks.

The Gallup Poll

PRINCETON, N. J. — Repeal of the constitutional two-term limit on the presidency, now under consideration by a House judiciary subcommittee, would not be looked upon with favor by the American public at this time.

Sentiment throughout the country today runs nearly 2-to-1 against changing the amendment. Among those expressing a definite opinion, 64 per cent are opposed compared to 36 per cent who are in favor.

"As you know, an amendment to the Constitution now prevents a President from being elected to more than two terms. Would you favor or oppose changing this amendment so that a President could run for more than two terms?"

REPEAL 2-TERM LIMIT?

Oppose	60%	64%
Favor	34	36
No opinion	6	—

In surveys conducted prior to the adoption of the two-term limit on the presidency, the Gallup Poll always found opinion on the issue dividing sharply along party lines, with Republicans in favor of limiting the number of terms and Democrats opposed.

Now, with a popular Republican president serving his second term, one might expect party attitudes to be reversed. Such is not the case, however.

Today, 68 per cent of rank-and file GOP voters are opposed to changing the amendment, compared to 57 per cent of Democratic voters.

Age is a factor, the survey finds. Among older voters, sentiment is overwhelmingly opposed. But among young others, sentiment is close to being evenly divided today.

The vote by age groups:

	21-29 yrs. Pct.	30-49 yrs. Pct.	50 yrs. & over Pct.
Oppose	49	59	65
Favor	45	35	28
No opinion	6	6	7

One of the arguments currently advanced in favor of repeal of the amendment is that the occupant of the White House would then not become a "lame duck" President and lose political control. Members of his party would not then know definitely whether or not he would be a candidate.

This poses an interesting question: How would the Republican Party, with Eisenhower at the head of the ticket, fare in an election against Adlai Stevenson today? Has the relative popularity of these two men changed since 1956?

The answer, judging from today's survey, is "No." For, despite the gains of the Democratic party in last November's congressional races, the country "still likes Ike."

A "trial heat" survey question shows that Eisenhower, the first Chief Executive to be limited to two terms, would rack up the same landslide victory today against Stevenson as he did in 1956.

"Suppose that Eisenhower could run for a third term, and that he wished to. If he were the Republican candidate and Adlai Stevenson were the Democratic candidate, which would you like to see win?"

The results, with the undecided vote eliminated, are:

Eisenhower	58 Pct.
Stevenson	42

In defeating Stevenson for the second time in the 1956 presidential race, President Eisenhower polled 57.8 per cent of the major party vote, compared to 42.2 per cent for Stevenson.

Analysis of the survey figures reveals that, if an Eisenhower-Stevenson election were held today, the President would carry every section of the country except the South.

	Pct. Eisenhower	Pct. Stevenson
East	62	38
Midwest	59	41
South	48	52
West	56	44

Russians Use Blood From Cadavers

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Three visiting Russian surgeons told doctors here that some Soviet hospitals are using blood from cadavers for transfusion purposes.

"It's just as good as fresh blood," Dr. Boris Petrov of the Shilfosowsky Institute in Moscow said during a visit to George Washington University Hospital.

According to Petrov, blood taken from a cadaver is less likely to cause reactions in a patient receiving a transfusion than is fresh blood. About four quarts can be taken from each body and preserved for three to four weeks.

The Russian doctors said the technique is made possible by the fact autopsies to determine cause of death are routine on all patients who die in Soviet hospitals. The blood is withdrawn when the autopsy is performed.

What Got Campy's Son Off Base?

Roy Campanella

David Campanella

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Why did Roy Campanella's son, David, "jump the track," as his shocked father phrased it?

When any child jumps the track into crime, according to family-life experts, parents should ask—was he "forced" off?

Did Dave Campanella, for example, these experts ask, find living up to a father who is an "idol of America" too much? Did he feel a compulsion to assert his own identity by pulling away from his father's shadow, even to the extent of gang leadership and robbery?

Campanella said David had everything he wanted. Was "everything" not enough, or was it "too much?"

Or, is the answer a much simpler one — just that he's 15, an adolescent?

Adolescents are rebels, according to Clark W. Blackburn, director of the Family Service Association of America.

"Adolescence is an age of rebellion against parents most of all. And in that rebellion the adolescent frequently seeks to be on the opposite side of what the father stands for."

Tagging David a juvenile delinquent horrified Roy Campanella, who's crusaded against delinquency through the years. He said:

"That's why I'm so upset by all this. I've lectured in schools and before youth groups all over the country. Whenever I spoke to boys who had been in trouble, I asked them to think—why? I made them think about themselves and about why they did these crazy acts. Now I have to ask Dave why.

"The boy has everything. I don't pick his friends. I leave that up to him."

David was with one of his friends when he robbed a drugstore. "We were a couple of jerky kids," he told police. "We were acting crazy."

Mrs. Ruthe Campanella, his mother, feels David's problem is being blown up out of all proportion because his name is Campanella.

"Don't think it's been easy for David these last few weeks or during the whole time he was growing up—with Roy in the public eye and all.

"I get so upset because some of this is so unfair. But when your name is Campanella, you're not supposed to blow your top—whether you're a 15-year-old boy or even if you're his mother."

A. D. Buchmueller, director of the Child Study Association of America, takes the view that adolescent rebellion happens in good poor families, in good wealthy families and in just about every kind of family—regardless of the social or economic level.

"Sometimes the stress on children of prominent parents, however, is greater than it would be if the parents weren't prominent. These children have more difficulty because of the notoriety. It's public knowledge when they get into trouble because whatever they do—good or bad—they are more prominently viewed."

Adolescent rebellion, according to Buchmueller, is simply an attempt by children to assert themselves in an adult world. He said some youngsters struggle more than others, but that all of them have the same aim: Asserting themselves as individuals.

Both Blackburn and Buchmueller said it would be presumptuous to analyze the case of David Campanella without a long study of the boy.

"But generally," Blackburn said, "it is difficult at any age for a child to live in the shadow of a father who is great. And it is difficult often when a catastrophic illness occurs in a family, taking up its time, attention and resources. There is a strain on emotional resources, too."

Altrincham Raps Royalty Again

By the Associated Press

LORD ALTRINCHAM sounded off at the British monarchy again and said he was encouraged because people don't get as mad at him as they used to. He once said the speaking style of Queen Elizabeth II was schoolgirlish.

Now in the March issue of the National and English Review, his Conservative magazine, the young peer asked whether the monarchy was going to remain "basically an upper-class and United Kingdom institution."

Answering his own question, he wrote "neither the class barrier nor the national barrier has yet been broken. Some gestures have been made, but they are nothing like enough."

Aw Rats! There Are 800,000 in Dade

By TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writer

YOU DIRTY LITTLE RAT!
NOW LET'S DON'T GET PERSONAL!
DAVE CROSS

Dade County has about 800,000 rats—and that's good.

At least, according to Dade's superintendent of rodent control, Charles E. Brettell, it's better than most cities.

"We have about one rat per person here, which is way below the national average of almost two rats per person," said Brettell, who views life as a great battle between Man and Rat.

* * *

RAT KILLER Brettell and his four full-time assistants haven't actually counted all the rats in the county but they've made some mighty thorough samplings.

Once, back in 1946," they trapped more than 500 rats to count the fleas on them. Then they counted the germs on the fleas.

If you're worried about where to find your own personal rat, Brettell suggests you look around on the county's docks, trash dumps, warehouses—or even your own home.

"Wherever you actually see a rat you can be sure there are at least eight more," said Brettell.

With only one rat per person, Brettell said Saturday, Dade has its rodent situation under control.

"Back in 1942, when they formed the Rodent Control Department, Dade had about 50 to 60 typhus cases a year. Now we average less than one case a year."

The little buck toothed fellows don't actually cause typhus, Brettell said, but they carry the fleas that do. They also carry about 18 other disease-causing parasites.

* * *

"BUT WE'LL never be able to get rid of all the rats down here," said Brettell. "There are too many good breeding factors — warmth, water, food, hiding places. Everything is in their favor.

"The real trouble with them," said Brettell, "is that they have no commercial value. If someone could figure out a way of using all the rats, people would go out and trap them tomorrow."

And mice—which are included in the 800,000 figure—aren't much better in Brettell's book. They don't carry as many disease germs as rats but they do more economic damage.

Rodents of all kinds, Brettell pointed out, do more than a million dollars spoilage-damage a year in Dade and more than two billion dollars damage yearly throughout the country.

The three main weapons — besides cats — in the Great War Against Rats: red squill rat poison, an old standard; "warfarin," an anti-coagulant developed by and named after the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation; and "Ten-Eighty Sodium Fluoroacitate," which is so deadly that only expert ratters can obtain it.

* * *

RATS, for their part, come in assorted varieties and sizes, including the large brown Norway rat, the smaller black Ratus Ratus rat, the Alexander or Roof rat, and the Fugiverous rat which lives in trees and eats only fruit.

"I think it's important for people to know more about rats so they can attack them effectively," said Brettell.

"Most of our work is in public places," said Brettell. "Last August we put on an extensive campaign along the entire Dade shoreline.

Surly Sons Are Bitter

Dad Turns 3 Tough Kids Over to Court for Action

OAKLAND, Calif.—(AP)—Richard Paulisich, 41-year-old jeweler and the father of six, filed a complaint of "incorrigibles" against three of his sons in Juvenile Court.

He charged they ignored him, threatened him and recently threw stones at him. The boys are 13, 15, and 16.

"In the last couple of years," said Paulisich, "they've been getting worse and worse. I don't know why. They could be good boys. I want them to get straightened out before they get into serious trouble."

Paulisich accused his sons of having drinking and gambling parties in his home. He said they threatened him when he objected.

He and his wife, Wilma, 46, have three other children, two girls, 12 and 14, and another boy, six.

Police said the three older boys were surly and bitter when taken to Juvenile Hall pending a hearing. One muttered: "We'll get even."

Spinella's Home Going

The once-elaborate home of deported racketeer Mike Spinella, on Allison Road, Miami Beach, will be sold for $39,000.

Federal Judge Emett Choate agreed that the sale should take place after the receiver for Spinella properties in this country reported an offer of $39,000.

A U.S. attorney said the government, which is pushing tax claims against Spinella, had no objection to a private sale.

Family Ambition: Big School Problem

By PHIL MEYER
Herald Education Writer

MEYER

Are there any "forgotten pupils" in the Dade County school system?

There shouldn't be, say local educators. Our schools come close to providing something for everyone. We have classes for the extra dull and the extra bright, as well as the great majority who are just average.

And by picking the right courses, with the help of his counselors, a student can start in high school to steer either toward college or to a job immediately after graduation.

One thing disturbs this pattern, however: The pupil whose own interests and skills point one way and whose family's ambitions for him point another. To the family, it may appear that the system is bypassing the child — that somehow, he has been "forgotten."

Sputnik is partly to blame, say Dade schoolmen. Parents want their children to be scientists and engineers and don't stop to consider the possibility that they may lack the necessary ability or desire. Somehow, they expect the schools to provide whatever the child lacks.

"We don't have a pill that will make kids smart," sighed one Dade principal after a woman complained that her brother's high school record wasn't good enough to get him into an engineering school.

The woman wrote The Herald complaining about the Dade school system after she had gone to an engineering school to see about getting her 18-year-old brother admitted.

She found he would first have to "somehow make up the algebra, geometry, algebra II, solid geometry and so forth he did not get in high school."

"At present it looks as though it will be at least two years of night classes or four summer sessions in sub-freshman math . . . before he can even consider college. He is going to be delayed over a year as a result of going to school in Florida."

But school records told a different story. The boy was steered away from algebra and geometry in high school because tests showed he was still a sixth-grader, mathematically.

Instead, he took 12th grade "basic math," a course designed to bring him up to at least eighth-grade level. His average so far is "D" in that course, his principal said.

On the other hand, the boy made straight A's in advanced metal shop. "We need people with this technical ability as much as we need engineers," the principal said.

"And he made B in history. He could develop that ability if his family would let him.

Engine Fails

Makarios Plane Has Close Call

LONDON — (UPI) — Greek Cypriot leader Archbishop Makarios had a narrow escape Saturday when his Olympic Airways plane developed engine trouble after takeoff for Athens and made an emergency landing.

MAKARIOS

A relief DC6B took off later, carrying Makarios to Athens and his triumphal return to Cyprus today after three years of exile. Makarios is almost certain to become the first president of an independent republic of Cyprus.

It was only split-second action by the Greek pilot of the first airliner that saved Makarios and 37 other passengers. The plane was aloft only six minutes before it touched back down on the runway. Ambulances and crash crews stood by.

Capt. Haralampos Kalogeridis, who piloted the disabled plane, said that "if I had lost my head I might have lost my aircraft." He scoffed at the suggestion sabotage may have been behind the near-disaster.

A passenger said the outer portside engine failed just as the wheels left the ground. This is the critical period in any takeoff.

"The pilot quickly feathered the bad engine and rammed power into the other port engine," the passenger said. "We didn't even lurch."

Asian 'Kidnap' Crisis Feared

TOKYO — (UPI) — Communist China's charges that South Viet Nam "kidnaped" 82 fishermen in Red Chinese waters aroused fears of a new Red-inspired crisis in Asia.

DIEM

The developing crisis was over claims to the Paracels Islands, a strategic archipelago in the South China Sea.

Communist China, which has contested claims of Nationalist China and South Viet Nam to the territory, accused the Saigon government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem of invading the islands, tearing down Communist flags, "kidnaping" 82 fishermen and seizing five fishing boats.

Earlier this month the Peiping regime reported it was colonizing the island group, which it calls Hsisha — West Sands.

Government spokesmen in Saigon said last week South Viet Nam, a staunchly anti-Communist ally of the U.S., would investigate the Chinese reports.

Lebanon Bans Nasser Films

BEIRUT, Lebanon — (UPI) — The Lebanese government banned newsreel pictures of U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser which ignited the bloodiest fighting between rival factions in Beirut since the revolution last summer.

NASSER

At least two persons were reported killed and 10 wounded in the clashes between pro and anti-Nasser elements before troops and police restored order.

Police rounded up an estimated 50 persons for questioning in connection with the fighting that broke out when Nasser's picture was flashed on the screen of the Hollywood movie theater.

Army patrols working with police confiscated hundreds of weapons from pedestrians in the downtown streets after the fighting.

Minister of Interior Raymond Edde reported to the cabinet on the incident and then told reporters that the government had decided on security measures. He did not disclose what these were.

'A Matter of Philosophy'

Man Must Accept the Risk Of Radiation, Says Scientist

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A top government scientist said Saturday man is going to have to learn to accept radiation risks philosophically just as he does such other everyday hazards like auto travel.

Dr. Lauriston S. Taylor, chief of the Atomic and Radiation Division of the National Bureau of Standards, said the advantages of radiation are such that man probably will not give them up despite the dangers.

Dr. Taylor's views were contained in a report on employe radiation hazards and workmen's compensation made public by the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

The report, compiled chiefly by the Atomic Energy Commission, is in preparation for a series of public hearings the committee will hold on the subject starting March 10.

Dr. Taylor said he knows it sounds startling to contend that the establishment of permissible levels of radiation exposure is not basically a scientific problem.

"It is more a matter of philosophy, or morality, and sheer wisdom," he said, adding:

"The problem centers about a philosophy to which mankind is well accustomed; it may be called a 'philosohy of risk.'

"In nearly every phase of ordinary life man accepts knowingly if he thinks about it at all, risks of commission that could cost him his life . . .

"To attain zero risk it is almost certain that life itself would have to be given up."

The scientist said "some of the risks that are commonly accepted can be mentioned; virtually any mode of transportation from boat or bicycle to the airplane — but without these, life today would be very different indeed; smoking, a luxury that all could well do without — except that some other relaxing habit that would be just as dangerous would be found; many forms of medication to which there are dangerous individual idiosyncrasies or allergies."

Dr. Taylor said that as far as scientific data go, the only answer to the question—"what amount of radiation may man receive in either chronic or acute exposure without any harm to himself or his progeny?"—is "none."

But, he went on, radiation and nuclear energy have become so important in a number of fields that it is obvious man does not plan to give up their benefits.

The fields include medical treatment, industrial uses, research, and production of electric power, he noted.

Some Diagnose Internal Wounds as Fatal

Bedside Watch Over Cancer Institute Begins

The Miami public has had an opportunity the last four days to examine the arguments in a squabble at the Cancer Institute at Miami. Today's is the last of a series examining the issues behind the fight in which two insiders attacked the policies of Director J. Ernest Ayre and the board's handling of financial affairs.

By JUANITA GREENE
Herald Staff Writer

Doctors and civic leaders Saturday were hovering over the bedside of the once robust Cancer Institute at Miami.

GREENE

"The effectiveness of this center in the fight against cancer has been destroyed," he declared. And he said positively he will leave when his contract expires next year.

More optimistic but still worried was Institute President Leonard G. Egert.

"A man like Ayre," he said, "is not easily replaced."

Most confident was W. L. Philbrick, former board member who led the attacks against Ayre and the demands for changes.

Egert has accused Philbrick of endangering the whole future of the institute because of a personal grudge against Ayre.

And Dr. Homer L. Pearson, past president of both the Dade County and Florida medical associations, claims the trouble started "because of certain organizational developments within the board."

Putting it more bluntly was board member Leonard Wien. He said Philbrick got sore because he wasn't elected president last year.

Philbrick denies this, and points out that he had even proposed Mrs. Fred Ravlin for the top job.

Only other person to side publicly with Philbrick in the fuss has been Robert Hanley, a member of the board who works as public relations director for Philbrick's funeral homes.

Among the many complaints that Hanley hopes to lay before the Grand Jury is the one that officials of the Damon Runyon cancer research fund are "professionally dissatisfied" with Ayre.

Wien counters with the claim that the Runyon fund is dominated by pathologists, who oppose the Ayre-sponsored program of mass testing at big centers.

An official of the fund reported from New York that research grants have gone annually to individuals on Ayre's staff, though none to Ayre himself.

Other foundations, however, like the one supported by millionaire philantrophist J. M. Rand, are financing personal research by Ayre, the doctor pointed out.

Philbrick has been unable to muster any medical authority to support his blasts at Ayre's competence.

The institute itself, said Keiser, "has been of definite value." He pointed out that it was here that cytology diagnosis was perfected.

The result, said Ayre, is that in Miami more women have received the protection of early cancer diagnosis than anywhere else in the world.

One of Philbrick's first attacks on the institute was against its policy of accepting slides from osteopaths. He succeeding in shutting them off. But the Dade County Medical Association is expected soon to approve the testing of smears sent in by the osteopaths.

The argument in favor of accepting smears from osteopaths is advanced by Dr. Keiser: Many women, he says, are deprived of protection under the present closed policy.

Philbrick's critics point out that he has been the center of controversy in other community welfare projects in the past.

He once was chairman of a big fund raising drive for a children's hospital but resigned when it got bogged down.

"I was tricked into resigning," Philbrick said.

A slow talking, Tallahassee-born Floridian, Philbrick says his heart has always been with the community and his only aim is to contribute something to it.

But Wien and his other opponents accuse him of seeking personal fame with a "rule or ruin" determination.

Philbrick, on the other hand, charges Ayre is out for personal glory and using the institute as a vehicle.

Both men are skilled in the use of public relations. They've produced piles of papers, letters, and reports and distributed them widely.

The duplicating machines have been running hot.

Shots Fired Near Home Of Castro

HAVANA — (UPI) — Gunfire cracked near the home of Premier Fidel Castro in suburban Cojimar Beach but police Saturday denied reports there was an attack on Castro's residence.

The sound of gunfire near Castro's home Friday night brought police and troops pouring into the area.

Reports circulating here said gunmen in two cars fired several shots at or in the vicinity of Castro's home in the fishing village, which is the locale for Ernest Hemingway's best-seller "The Old Man and the Sea."

These reports said the rural guard at a nearby post returned the fire. There are no known casualties.

Across

1—A jealous dog-lover often tends to resent strangers PETTING his dog (Patting). — Not PATTING: it might be no more than a few pats. Often tends accords better with PETTING, which indicates that strangers are paying a good deal of attention to the animal.

4—A man who is DUDE is often apt to be inefficient (Rude). — Normally, often apt goes too far with RUDE. It's more in character for a DUDE, or dandy, to be inefficient. He's likely to spend more attention on himself than on the job.

6—As a rule, the stricter a boss more anxious workers are that they don't GET him down (Let). — GET is better: they might well fear a very strict boss. They might LET him down, but he might not know about it.

7—When a rival's charms are more FAKED than hers, a woman is seldom charitable about it (Faded).— Not FADED: she'd have little to fear from a rival with FADED charms. When the rival's charms are more FAKED than her, that rival might put up a better apparent appearance.

10—We're usually readier to discuss our personal problems with people of our own SET (Sex). — Not SEX, a person of the opposite SEX, a close relative or friend, might well be our closest confidant. It is more reasonable to say that we're usually readier to discuss such problems with people in our own circle of acquaintances, our own SET.

11—SHAME sometimes has a beneficial effect on a naughty child (Shake). — A SHAKE seldom has a beneficial effect on a naughty child: it's so soon forgotten! SHAME is more penetrating and more lasting.

13—It often makes workers less careful when their boss doesn't FIND mistakes in their work (Mind). — Often understates with MIND: he'd be indifferent to mistakes. Often points to FIND: the mistakes might be trivial and easily overlooked, but that doesn't mean he won't find future mistakes.

14—Having a reputation for being SHORT certainly has its advantages (Sport). — If you have a reputation for being a SPORT, you might very often be imposed on. If you've a reputation for being SHORT of money, people won't ask you for a loan; they're less likely to waste your time or impose on you if you're believed to be SHORT, curt, abrupt or snappish in manner.

Down

1—There's seldom much that's exciting in the average man's POST (Past). — Seldom goes too far with PAST; the average man of today might well have had experience in a war. Less likely is there to be much that's exciting in the average man's POST, job.

2—Alas! some wives seem all too ready to ridicule their husbands' IDEAS (Ideal) — The statement read with IDEAL is simply not true; one's ideal is that which answers to one's highest conception, the highest and best conceivable. For that matter, she might be his ideal! IDEAS makes the statement true to life.

3—We're apt to be resentful when we've done a man a big favor and he doesn't show a LOT of gratitude (Jot). — When he doesn't show a JOT of gratitude, not even the slightest bit, we're more than merely apt to be resentful. The restraint of apt fits LOT; after all, we've done him a big favor.

5—It often hinders a youngster's progress when his parents' hopes for him CLASH (Crash). — Often understates with CRASH, which implies finality, with no hope of the plans being resurrected. CLASH is milder, indicating merely a difference of opinion.

8—It's often very difficult to interpret a woman's FEARS correctly (Tears). — FEARS is better: she herself might not know the basis for her FEARS. A woman's TEARS can sometimes be bewildering, but often very difficult exaggerates.

9—People are sometimes less likely to be ROWDY when they're young than when they're old (Dowdy). — They're usually, rather than sometimes, less likely to be DOWDY, shabby in appearance, when they're young. Whether people are ROWDY, rough or quarrelsome, depends on their natures. And it's only sometimes less likely they'll be ROWDY when they're young than when they're old.

11—If often counts much against him when an applicant for a job is SHY about answering questions (Sly). — SLY is weak: if he's obviously sly, it at least usually counts much against him; if his slyness is not obvious it might not be detected. SHY is better with often: a lot depends on the job he's after.

12—A man likes to feel he is HIT in the eyes of a woman he admires (Wit). — It must be clear to many a man that he can scarcely be a WIT in the eyes of a woman he admires: he knows his limitations. That he likes to feel he is a HIT, or success, is more reasonable, more understandable.

Calm Down, Girls, He's Married

Nobody's THAT Handsome Except Hollywood Attorney

By ELEANOR DIXON
Herald Staff Writer

What is there about Hollywood Attorney Gregson Bautzer that makes a gal's heart flutter?

Just striking good looks. Real charm. A low, husky voice. And a knack for putting people at ease.

That's all.

He is the living amage of the 'man of distinction' in advertisements — the ads that make you say, "Nobody is THAT handsome." But Greg is that handsome, and in the most masculine sense.

He is tall, trim and muscular and — what a blow — he is married, to London-born actress Dana Wynter. Until they were married three years ago he was known as Hollywood's most sought after bachelor and escorted such beauties as Joan Crawford, Jane Wyman, Ginger Rogers and Lana Turner.

There is no "prettiness" about him. His features are strong and manly. His short cropped, almost white hair is perfect for a bronzed tan (lots of tennis and outdoor living), deep brown eyes and a movie-star smile.

Gregson Bautzer
. . . hearts flutter

With all these assets he is not vain. But he chooses his clothes for maximum effect. As he chatted casually in his ocean front suite in the Eden Roc Hotel, he wore white sharkskin slacks and a grey and white cashmere shirt.

His wife too is a beauty, but there's been great speculation about what special quality she had to turn a perennial bachelor into a married man who says proudly, "I'm a lucky guy."

"She's a tremendously considerate young woman. And she has the slightly different attitude that European women have — that the man is the master."

It's not often that they're separated, but Greg is here for a business conference with Producer Roy Starke and other motion picture executives and Dana is on her way to Southern Rhodesia to visit her parents.

"I'm delighted," he admitted, "that Dana has cut down her movie and television appearances." But she did it of her own accord.

"Dana does what she pleases," he says with that beguiling smile. "She has sense and good judgement."

Attorney Gets Court Rebuke

In its action, the court accepted the recommendation of the Board of Governors of the Florida Bar Association that Girtman's punishment be limited to a reprimand.

The bar did not detail the charges against Girtman, but said they were based upon actions of seven years ago and that Girtman had admitted his error.

College Diploma No Open Sesame to Palsy Victim

He Hawks Papers—And Dreams

By JOY REESE SHAW
Herald Staff Writer

All of Flagler St. seemed caught up in a kind of softness.

Shadows of the night blunted the edges and angles of the buildings and fell across the slender figure of the solitary young man at the orange crate.

He patted his stack of papers into place under the light, limping busily around as he readied for business.

The lull was temporary

"It's a very busy corner," explained Henry Bartlett, 26 of his station at Second Ave. and Flagler. "I sell lots of papers."

He paused.

"Now peanuts, I could not sell," he confided. "The reason is very simple. I do not like peanuts."

He spoke in the measured meter of a cerebral palsy victim, framing each word deliberately. His blue eyes were sad, lined with a deep fringe of lashes. But his smile had humor and the warm sweetness of a man who has learned patience.

He was a college man doing a high school job — and hoping hard.

Night by night, the busy people pass him by — a few stopping to chat, more to pick up their papers, press a coin into a palm and hurry on — each wrapped in his own dreams and ambitions.

A million untold stories.

Henry Bartlett's began a long time ago in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where he was born, the only son of a Congregational minister. He has two younger sisters.

Henry couldn't walk or sit until he was four when he was placed under the care and training of Dr. Earl Carlson, a pioneer in CP treatment and author of the book: "Born That Way."

To this day Carlson, now ill and incapacitated, is a hero to Henry.

"It makes me sick inside to think that one who has helped so many is now helpless himself."

The biggest problem for the young palsy victim was his speech. It took 10 years of intensive training.

"My S's and L's were a mess," he recalled.

Determined to earn a higher education, Henry was graduated with a B. S. degree from Florida Southern College in Lakeland where he majored in sociology and psychology.

He was a member of the Student Senate, wrote a music column for the paper.

He made Who's Who Among American Students, Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity and Omicron Delta Kappa Honorary Society.

"Those were my happiest years," said Henry. "But I am happy now, too. Sometimes we are so busy liking where we've been we do not enjoy where we are. I am learning not to do that."

There was more Bartlett philosophy:

ON SUCCESS.

"A college diploma is not an open sesmae for ANYONE. We all have to start at the bottom. I just hope I'm not rooted to it."

* * *

AND ON HANDICAPS.

"I don't resent mine. But sometimes I resent the way people react to it. For instance, with jobs. It's discouraging when you make a great effort to get there, fill out a long form. Then, they won't even grant you a conference — and you know why."

* * *

ON RAIN.

Everything is relative. Fundamentally I appreciate rain. As a kid, I loved to walk in it. As a news-hawker, I've no use for it."

* * *

"It's debilitating. But sometimes we all do it."

He worries about his father, recently discharged from the chaplaincy and not yet located in a church — and about his sister Judy and whether they'll be able to keep her in college.

"Dad did everything but steal to give me all that special help through the years. Now . . . I should be helping him."

* * *

"It is good — and necessary — to dream. And sometimes to adjust the dreams."

Often, between customers, Henry dreams of owning his own tobacco shop — or newsstand.

He lives frugally in a room at 1450 Brickell Ave. He clears an average of $3 a night, sometimes more depending on tips, he explained, and he has begun a tiny savings account toward his goal. It's his pride — and his independence.

Paper, mister?

Golda Meir Dinner May Draw 1,600

More than 1,600 leaders of the American Jewry are expected in Miami Beach next weekend to kick off the new $300 million State of Israel bond issue.

Highlight of the three-day conference will be a tribute dinner to Mrs. Golda Meir, Israel's minister for foreign affairs.

Admission to the dinner, which will be held Saturday evening in the Fontainebleau, is through the purchase of $1,000 or more worth of Israel Bonds.

Principal speakers at the dinner will be Philip Klutznick, international president of B'nai B'rith; Sen. Wayne Morse (D., Ore.), and Jacob Herzog, minister plenipotentiary of the State of Israel to the U.S.

Babysitter Hunted as Kidnaper

Only six were there. Missing was one of her eight-week-old twins.

Ontario police called it a case of child stealing. A bulletin was issued for the woman who had volunteered to care for Mrs. Flores' brood Saturday night.

Officers were unable to find any trace of the woman, a short, stocky, blue-eyed woman known to Mrs. Flores only as Ann Williams.

Mrs. Flores was pregnant last June 26 when she was widowed by an explosion which killed her husband, Tony. One of her children was hurt, but recovered.

The blast came when Tony was welding a couch for Mrs. Flores.

"Since she became a widow, many people have offered to help Mrs. Flores," said Ontario Police Lt. Alfred A. Bolsta. "She didn't think it unusual when this woman came to see her and then volunteered to sit with the children Saturday night while she went out with a friend."

'World Fair' Offers New Hassle Threat

Still not completely clear of one long-running concession lease hassle (at Miami International Airport), the Metro Commission could be heading into another one as it becomes involved in the Jerome Weinkle world fair promotion.

Heaps of honest coin are made at world fairs on the scale of those at New York, San Francisco and Chicago. The big question is—who gets to operate the lucrative restaurants, bars, parking lots, etc?

Metro's name is already officially linked to the world fair promotion by passage of a resolution endorsing it "in principle."

On Tuesday the commission will be asked to sanction a 25-member world fair committee. If the fair promotion develops, the Dade County government will be linked inevitably to the selection of concessionaries.

Then the sniping by losing bidders will start, and it'll look like the Battle of the Airport all over again.

Point of View Tells the Story

It's all in the point of view, Miami Beach City Attorney Joseph A. Wanick observed after hearing Circuit Judge Ray Pearson's decision that many of the city's present functions belong to Metro.

"If a wild bull was chasing me across a field I wouldn't like it a bit," he opined. "But a cow wouldn't mind it a bit."

And when State Attorney Dick Gerstein reported for Circuit Court petit jury duty he said he was setting an example for shirkers.

But from where Judge Vincent Giblin sat it looked like a play for public notice.

"Any other attorney would have called my secretary and had his name stricken off the list, knowing no attorney will have an attorney on any jury," Judge Giblin said.

Probably because in the jury room they would argue law—and jurors are supposed to consider the facts—leaving the law to the court.

Miami Making A Court Stand

Fighting Manuel Ramos' suit to set aside a drunken and reckless driving conviction, they claim "concurrent jurisdiction" of city court with Metro Traffic Court.

Ramos claims Metro has "original exclusive jurisdiction."

The city has adopted the Metro Traffic Ordinance while contending it is invalid. Penalties however are reduced to be within the limits of the city charter.

* * *

Judge Attacks Discretion Lack

Assistant State Attorney John Boyer presented Criminal Court Judge Ben C. Willard with a George Washington type wig.

"I'm a big judge now but I still won't wear a robe—and not the wig either," Judge Willard said.

Metro Seeking Good Lobbyist

SHORT NOTES: Down memory lane . . . In 1957 a Miami Beach attorney tried to get the state legislature to impeach peppery Circuit Court Judge Vincent C. Giblin for "flagrant violations of the canons of judicial ethics" . . . The lawyer who made the attempt—present Commissioner Alex Gordon . . . Metro needs a professional lobbyist at the legislature to militate against anti-home rule bills, commissioners are agreed . . . Two names mentioned so far are upstater J. Lewis Hall and, surprisingly, Dade League of Municipalities Attorney George S. Okell . . . Some of the guest rooms are being designed out of the controversial airport hotel, to make way for meeting rooms. Management wants to compete for the luncheon club business . . . Port Authority Director George McSherry talks of moving sidewalks as a possible answer to the problem of the too-long walk to some of the airport's passenger loading stations.

Democrats Rap Postal Appointment

The appointment of Eugene Dunlap as acting postmaster here was assailed Saturday at the Young Democratic Club's Fourth district convention. Dunlap, a Republican, was chosen by President Eisenhower from the ranks of postal employes in this area, who, the resolution said, are overwhelmingly Democratic.

The appointment was cited as cause for the repeal of the Hatch Act, and state acts similar to it, which prohibits civil employes from holding partisan offices.

Rep. David Eldredge said government workers should be permitted to support and hold offices in political parties just like anyone else.

Also condemned in the resolution were the nonpartisan Metro elections in which offices are sought by candiates ostensibly Democratic, but who owe no allegiance to the party.

Rep. Eldredge warned that Floridians can look for a substantial automobile insurance premium increase and that further increases or even reductions can be effected only by the cooperation of all citizens in ceasing the highway carnage.

Rep. George Hollahan termed the closing of public schools a last ditch measure to thwart integration as "repugnant" to him.

He said that the Dade ruling to integrate the Orchard Villa School was well advised and every legislator he had discussed the action with had agreed with him and assured him that the Legislature this spring won't be out to "get" Dade for the integration step.

An address in the afternoon session by Sen. Verle Pope of St. Augustine urged the strengthening and reactivation of state party machiner which he said is active only during national elections.

"It is time Florida partisans lay down platforms for all state campaigns," he said. "The assumption that predominates Democratic Florida can continue to be relied upon for automatic support of Democratic candidates is no longer true."

Republican forces in this state sway more influence each year, he warned.

NEW YORK—(AP)—A young man plunged 19 floors Saturday but crashed through the top of a huge water tank and floated semi-conscious to the surface.

Police found him clutching the rim of the 10,000 gallon, two-story-high tank. They strapped him to a plank and maneuvered him through a seventh floor window level with the tank roof.

Identified as Emil A. Swiezy, 23, of Flushing, Queens, N.Y., he was taken to Beth David Hospital in critical condition with head and internal injuries.

Youth Faces Break-In Lie Test

The 21-year-old son of a Miami insurance agent will take a lie detector test Monday in an effort to prove he "just wanted a place to sleep" when he broke into the Temple Beth-Am Saturday.

Bruce Stallins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Stallins, 446 Loretto Ave., Coral Gables, was caught by the Temple's caretaker, John Suozzo, at 1:30 a.m., police said.

Stallins, according to Suozzo, had forced the rear door of the building at 5950 SW 88th St. and was in a hallway when he was apprehended.

Suozzo said he heard Stallins move through the building because he had "been sleeping lightly" since a $100,000 Israel stamp collection was stored in the Temple.

Stallins told sheriff's deputies he was tired and found the rear door of the church unlocked when he was looking for a place to lie down.

Reading Time
1 Minute 45 Seconds
TWO minutes spent reading this ad can spell the difference between success and failure in your choice of a selling career. If you're making your choice wisely the following facts are of prime interest to you:
1. Popularity of product
2. Turnover of sales department
3. Actual earning of present salesmen
4. Reputation for company
a. For fair dealing
b. For sales leadership
IN THESE days of phony deals, wild promises and half-baked propositions, a salesman should choose with care. Your first concern should be whether or not you're getting facts or fiction. Only facts are worth any interest on your part.
WE'LL start with fact No. 1: The English Ford is outselling it's competitive makes by more than 4 to 1 in Dade County. Last month we sold more English Fords than any dealer in the United States. Fact No. 2: We have less turnover of salesmen than any similar sales organization. Fact No. 3: In January our low man made $360.99, our top man made $922.08. The average was $542.49. Fact No. 4: Our reputation for fair dealing and sales leadership is known by everyone in Dade County both in and out of the automobile business.
THESE men earned the above on a 6 day week basis with no canvassing or outside solicitation. Our advertising campaign and previous owners provide all the prospects a salesman can handle. Our cars also enjoy the most favorable bank financing in the industry.
IF SELECTED you will drive a new English Ford Demonstrator and receive prizes and bonuses plus a paid vacation.
NATURALLY — we do not hire any Tom, Dick or Harry for the above job. In order to qualify you must have a successful selling record in big ticket items. (Automobile experience not necessary.) We prefer married men with plenty of kids who own their own homes and have a record of leadership in their field. Please allow 1 hour for application and interview anytime after 9:00 A.M.

More Strikes Loom

Castro Has Headache --It's Labor

By GEORGE SOUTHWORTH
Herald Latin America Editor

FIDEL CASTRO'S new broom continues to sweep the parasites out of the house that Batista built.

If the bearded victors are able to keep graft, corruption and brutality out of government—then the revolution was good for Cuba.

SOUTHWORTH

When the rebels pulled Cuba's freedom string, they found the government's money sack was empty and the country hard hit by unemployment.

Gravest problem facing the new government comes under the heading of labor. Workers are making demands. There may be more strikes.

Fidel Castro does a lot of talking when he should be listening—right now is the time for him to tune in on the labor problem. The Communists have their antennas up.

Soviet Bid for Trade Cited

THERE is increasing evidence that Russia is making a major effort to build up trade with Latin American countries.

NIXON

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, on his ill-fated trip to South America last year, declared that "throughout the world, economic penetration by Russia has been followed with attempts at political domination."

One provides Argentina with 100 million dollars in credits for purchase of Soviet oil equipment to develop Argentine oil industry. Repayments in Argentine commodities, will be over a seven-year period.

The second deal is a trade of one million dollars worth of Soviet oil for one million dollars worth of Brazilian cacao. These two countries have a bigger deal in the works.

Nine Nations Back 'Rights' Move

THE INTER AMERICAN Press Association has proposed to the governments of the Americas the establishment of a system of collective action to ensure the enjoyment of individual rights in the Western Hemisphere.

ECHANDI

IAPA President Alberto Gainza Paz, publisher of La Prensa of Buenos Aires, announced Saturday that nine countries have replied and "all generally support the move."

Latest reply came from President Mario Echandi of Costa Rica who said that "the proposal for a system of collective action to protect human rights has our sympathy and support.

"It is not only a matter of giving efficiency to the Declaration of Human Rights adopted by all American Republics at the Bogota conference," he said, "but also of giving new life and action to the Organization of American States, since the proposed system of collective action would function within this organization."

Mexican Government Jolts Foreign Firms

By Herald Wire Services

MEXICO CITY — A behind-the-scenes battle is under way here among foreign firms seeking to get in on the ground floor of Mexico's prospective multi-million dollar petro-chemical industry.

In anticipation of developments in this direction, the Mexican government has quietly consolidated absolute control of petroleum and natural gas, the basic raw materials for such industries.

Laws were amended so that more than 450 concessions held by private companies or industries for exploitation of subsoil hydrocarbons, including oil and natural gas, were wiped out. Now all petro-chemical plants depend exclusively on petroleos Mexicanos, the government oil agency, for supplies of basic derivatives.

Cotton Survey Set March 18

MEXICO CITY — A technical committee to study cotton growing and marketing will be set up at a meeting in San Salvador March 18 with representatives from Mexico, Costa Rica, Panama, Nicaragua, Honduras and El Salvador. They will be looking for ways to lower costs of cotton production and to improve the quality of cotton.

Payroll Bums: A Mexican Problem

By EDWIN A. LAHEY
Chief Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Nationalized industries in Mexico are a sanctuary for payroll bums and political hacks.

That is the key to some of the troubles facing Lopez Mateos.

The brief revolt of workers on the National Railways of Mexico was a sample of what is ahead.

This is a 14,000-mile railroad. It has 70,000 employes.

The Missouri Pacific railroad, which has about the same trackage as the National Railways of Mexico, operates with about 30,000 workers.

For every dollar the National Railways of Mexico takes in, it spends about $1.35.

The nationalized rail industry is not the only payroll sanctuary for aging "revolutionists" in Mexico.

Informed sources have estimated that there are at least 18,000 excess payrollers with Pemex, the nationalized oil industry in Mexico.

The U. S. has an interest in this payroll padding in Mexico's nationalized enterprises. The World Bank and the Export-Import bank have helped the Mexican railroads, and are expecting new loan applications in the future.

But any attempt by U. S. officials to urge efficiency upon these Mexican clients would be regarded as "imperialism." So Washington walks with great care in this field.

President Lopez Mateos, however, has taken the payroll bull by the horns, and is doing something about the problem.

The new president on Dec. 1 appointed Benjamin Mendez head of the National Railways, with full authority to apply the same efficiency in this operation that Mendez had shown in operating the "Pacifico," a smaller nationalized railway with 1,200 miles of track and about 7,000 employes.

In the past few years of his operation of the smaller railway system Mendez reduced the payroll by 800 men and brought the operation to within sight of solvency.

Mendez' first crisis in the management of National Railways was resolved in short order. He refused a wage increase demanded by the workers.

The organized workers struck, and the government outlawed the strike in 24-hours. The workers began pouring back immediately.

The next test of Mendez' will, and of the support of the government behind him, will come when this nationalized railway tries to reduce its oversized payroll.

And the students of "state socialism" all over the world will be watching the results of that operation.

Paraguay Clash Reported

FORMOSA, Argentina —(AP) — Reports received here from Paraguay said civilian groups opposed to President Alfredo Stroessner clashed with government forces south of Ascuncion.

The reports at this border village said the clashes occurred Thursday, and the civilians were forced to withdraw south toward the Argentine border. The clashes were apparently localized, the reports added.

Tension has been reported building up in Paraguay against Stroessner. Radio messages to an unidentified Paraguayen vessel heard here carried instructions to keep a sharp watch on the Paraguay River for possible crossings by "oppositionists" in launches and rowboats.

Teachers Visit Miami

Tour a Success, Say Costa Ricans

A group of 13 high school teachers from Costa Rica visited Miami last week after a 47-day tour of the U.S and declared their trip was "highly successful and very educational."

They toured seven U.S. cities and visited high schools to study our educational methods. They lived in American homes.

The tour was arranged by the Experiment in International Living — a non-profit educational organization, the Costa Rican airline LACSA and a grant from the U.S. Department of State.

At an evaluation meeting here, members of the group said they especially enjoyed their stays in American homes, for they felt this gave them a closer understanding of our way of life.

Attending the meeting were Walter Walters, State Department representative here; Mrs. Jack Nelson, Experiment representative in Miami, and Victor Vidal of LACSA.

The teachers said they believe their visit to U.S. schools gave them "valuable insight into American teaching methods" that will assist them in their own country.

Darling First Landing a Dud

Troilus' Easy Win Rips Derby Picture

By EDWIN POPE
Assistant Sports Editor

Bargain-basement blockbuster Troilus and the exploding whip of Jockey Chris Rogers blew horse racing's Triple Crown picture wide open Saturday with a three-length victory in the $135,800 Flamingo in Hialeah.

Pink was the theme of this 30th Flamingo Day, but about all favorite First Landing collected was the blues. Christopher Chenery's juvenile champion and winter-book darling finished an uninspired third, a length and three quarters behind the Mackle brothers' 40-1 Open View.

Hialeah's largest crowd in two seasons — 34,425 — and a national TV audience saw Eddie Arcaro put First Landing in position for a shot at the winner as they turned into the spacious stretch.

First Landing didn't take off.

Troilus, Bayard Sharp's $9,000 yearling purchase, did. It was worth $86,070 to Sharp.

Troilus as second choice paid $6.90, $4.70 and $3.10. Open View returned a handsome $20.70 and $7.20, and First Landing's dull performance was worth $2.40 to $2 bettors.

After those, in order, came Rare Rice, Easy Spur, Moony, Scotland, Manassa Mauler, Rico Tesio and the short-winded speedball Eurasia, who led all the way to the stretch turn.

Time for the mile and an eighth was 1:49 1-5 — well off Bold Ruler's record of 1:47 set in 1957, and slower than Tim Tam's 1:48 4-5 last year. But the third stakes triumph in three stakes tries popped the big bay son of Priam 2nd squarely into Triple Crown speculation.

Owner Sharp, of Wilmington, Del., calls Troilus "just a big lug" because of his rambunctiousness around the barn and the difficulty of handling him in workouts. And "big" is just the word for Troilus' immediate future.

Weighted far down the line in the Experimental Free Handicap list indicative of the quality of this year's three-year-olds, Troilus now has moved into top rank for the Kentucky Derby-Preakness-Belmont sequence ahead of First Landing, the ailing Tomy Lee Dunce, Internationally, Finnegan, Sword Dancer and Atoll, among others.

Troilus needs a stern rider, and he had just that Saturday in 35-year-old Rogers, who was winning his first $100,000-plus stake in 19 years in the saddle. The normally fun-loving Rogers, second-place finisher on Lincoln Road in last year's Kentucky Derby and Preakness, was deadly serious Saturday and gave Troilus his best ride. That's about as good as you get these days.

He broke Troilus second just behind Eurasia and whip-slashing Johnny Ruane, then kept him on the Greentree gray's tail through the first three quarters of a mile.

Open View and Sammy Boulmetis hung on third, with First Landing and Arcaro fourth on the outside, as they pounded an unexciting path to the stretch turn.

Eurasia's tank went dry there. Then Rogers whacked his whip into Troilus' broad flank, and away they went.

Boulmetis repeatedly urged Open View toward the leader through the final two furlongs. But Troilus shook him off each time. With the exception of one swift downstroke of his whip, the confident Rogers merely hand-rode Troilus in the final strides.

First Landing's trainer, Casey Hayes, had said early Saturday, "Our colt is ready for a supreme test. I hope it's a clean, truly run race."

It was a clean, truly run race, all right, but First Landing failed utterly to meet the test.

"I hope they wrap this colt up in cellophane," quipped Rogers after a delirious embrace from wife Joan in the winner's circle. "I don't want anything to happen to him."

He won't be second choice there.

SATURDAY'S TURNOUT of 34,425 was substantially larger than the 31,303 registered this day last year. But the betting did not reflect the attendance gain. The Saturday mutuel handle was $2,512,003 against $2,506,010.

Steady increases now have pulled Hialeah to within 0.7 per cent of the 1958 attendance for a corresponding period — 720,164 this meeting to 725,360 in '58.

Miami Tops FSU, Loses NIT Chance

By LUTHER EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

Battling for a lost cause—a bid to the National Invitational Tournament—University of Miami's hustling basketball team defeated Florida State, 92-85, Saturday night before 2,502 approving fans at Beach Auditorium.

Thus, the Hurricanes completed their best season in school history with six successive victories; 11 in their last 12 contests, and 18th in 25 total starts.

Although Coach Bruce Hale, his players and the customers did not realize the sad facts, the NIT field had been filled earlier in the day — without Miami.

Nineteen points ahead early in the second half, the UM had to survive a blistering comeback which brought the Seminoles within three points at 78-75 with four minutes left.

Then Norm Nebel hit a jumpshot and Harry Manushaw caged a hook to restore Miami to an 82-75 lead over the pressuring, fast-breaking visitors.

The pro-Miami crowd held its collective breath when the 6-7 Manushaw, Miami's "backbone" in this struggle, hurt his back and suffered a torn hand in a melee under FSU's basket.

But the gritty sophomore was determined to finish the job . . . and did with two more field goals on tap-ins to help keep FSU at bay.

Manushaw totaled 23 points — including nine from the foul line — in addition to leaping for 21 rebounds to run his UM one-season record total to 372 retrieves.

He had to be good. Miami's second best rebounder and marksman, 6-4 Sophomore Forward Ron Godfrey, had sprained an ankle on a fast break and retired for the evening with 9:10 remaining in the opening half.

Trying to cope with the bruising Manushaw under the boards resulted in Coach Bud Kennedy's two tallest athletes fouling out in the second half's infancy.

Center Dan Boltz' 6-6, was ejected with only 1:45 of the last 20 minutes consumed; 6-6 Forward Charie Tinsley followed with just 3:20 gone.

Early NIT Move Eliminated UM

University of Miami's basketball team will receive no bid to the National Invitational Tournament.

Even before taking the Beach Auditorium court Saturday night to defeat Florida State, 92-85, the Hurricanes had been eliminated from consideration by the NIT's seven-man committee.

While the UM cagers were keying themselves up for the victory they thought would earn an NIT berth, Chairman Ken Norton already had told the Herald from New York by telephone:

"The 12-team field has been completed and Miami did not make it.

"They were among four teams considered for the last spot but lost out in a lively session of bickering."

Although only eight teams have been announced pending acceptances, Norton said:

"We'll have two from the Missouri Valley Conference . . . probably St. Louis and Bradley . . . and either Denver or Utah from the Skyline Conference.

"I am not at liberty to name the team which beat out Miami. But it is not from the East or deep South."

It marked the second successive year the Hurricanes have been given "last team" consideration for the Madison Square Garden competition beginning March 12. Last season with a 14-8 record, they lost out to Butler in the selections.

The Hurricanes' victory over FSU was their sixth straight; 10th in their last 11 games, and 18th in 25 starts this season.

NIT quintets already announced include, St. John's, NYU, Oklahoma City, Villanova, Fordham, St. Bonaventure, Providence and Manhattan, coached by Norton.

"Your club is coming along . . . maybe next year," said Norton, a statement which isn't likely to be much solace for the Hurricanes.—LUTHER EVANS.

They're Right Proud of Each Other
. . . Troilus and Rogers call it a race

A New Champ Is Born?

Troilus 'Reads' Right . . . And Rogers Cracks Barrier

By RUSS HARRIS
Herald Turf Writer

Step down, First Landing. Somebody's not coming, he's already there.

By virtue of his easy victory in the Flamingo, Bayard Sharp's rough and rangy Troilus let the world know he's the horse to beat in the Florida Derby and the Triple Crown events which follow.

In dethroning First Landing, champion of his generation until Saturday, Troilus zipped a mile in 1:35.2, then dethrottled to 1:49.1 for nine furlongs — requiring 13.4 seconds for the last eighth of a mile.

Did that unimpressive last furlong mean Troilus was tiring and may not like the longer distances of the classic contests?

"No sense in his running himself to death if nobody's near him," said Chris Rogers. "Troilus could have run downtown, mailed his letter, and still got home."

Flamingo Day was "champagne day" for Rogers.

Never before had he won a "hundred-grander." Four times he had been second in the big ones: with Blue Lem in Nashua's Florida Derby, and with Lincoln Road in Tim Tam's Florida Derby, Kentucky Derby by and Preakness triumphs.

Tim Tam had knocked him "from champagne to 10-cent beer in a split second," he said. But this time he told his wife, Joan: "I'm going to bring home that Flamingo cup."

Rogers held Troilus in second position while Eurasia cut out the pace. But Troilus went to the front sooner than the jockey had planned. At the five-eighths pole, Rogers lost an iron. In the instant it took him to recover, Troilus shot up beside Eurasia.

"I let him roll then," said Rogers, "once we opened up a lead I knew nobody would catch us."

Rogers seemed more concerned about the photographers inside the rail near the stretch than he was about the other horses.

Did Troilus run any differently in the Flamingo?

"He was more business-like and more determined than ever," said Rogers. "Maybe he read in the newspapers that this was a big race."

Trainer Explains Why He Urged Sharp to Buy Troilus for $9,000

HIALEAH'S PINK MOTIF for the Flamingo Saturday escaped being marred by the red inquiry sign as it was in the 1958 classic and this year in the McLennan and Widener.

There was no foul claim, because in full view of 34,425 spectators, Troilus fairly and convincingly scored an upset victory. Bayard Sharp's brown colt beat longshot Open View by three lengths and odds-on-favorite First Landing finished third.

Mrs., Mr. Sharp

Persons in the winner's circle, mindful of past experiences, waited anxiously until the victory became official. Then Sharp and his attractive wife happily accepted the Flamingo trophy from John C. Clark, former Hialeah president. During the wait, Jockey Chris Rogers' wife was almost in tears from joy.

Sharp bought Troilus for $9,000 at a yearling sale at Camden, N.J., in 1957. Troilus became one of racing's better bargains by earning $86,070 Saturday.

Troilus is so large he requires 14 quarts of oats daily, rather than the normal ration of 12.

Not too Promising at First

SHARP CHUCKLED as he recalled that at first Troilus was not too promising.

"When we were breaking him, I had three homebred fillies which could outrun him," said Sharp.

Mrs. Sharp was asked if she had been confident of a Flamingo victory.

"Oh, no," she said." You can never be sure and the horse didn't have that kind of a record."

Mrs. Sharp confided she did not become a racing fan until she married Mr. Sharp 13 years ago.

Wade High on Troilus

SHARP, WHO made Peoples—a former steeplechase rider his trainer five years ago—conceded Troilus is his best horse since Hannibal, which ran in the Kentucky Derby.

Even more enthusiastic about Troilus than his owner, is Horace Wade, Gulfstream racing director, who had freely predicted Troilus would win the Flamingo.

"He's a fine horse," said Wade. "I am confident he'll" win our Florida Derby and then the Kentucky Derby."

Sen. Scott Lucas of Illinois talked baseball while awaiting the running of the Flamingo . . . Asked if Congress will pass legislation to help baseball, he replied, "We certainly won't do anything to hurt it" . . . Sen. Lucas is proud of having played three years as an outfielder and first baseman in the Three-Eye League."

John Madala, Hialeah security chief, got a warm welcome from many friends . . . It was his first visit to the track since he was shot by a former tip-sheet seller . . . Wismer Sees Colorful Irish Team

ALL TOURISTS do not arrive here and rush to Hialeah. Harry Wismer, popular television and radio sports commentator, is one. He flew into Miami Saturday but skipped the Flamingo for golf. Harry will play again today at LaGorce with Bill MacDonald, Sam Potter and Albert Alter.

WISMER

Wismer is going to Kansas City Wednesday to make the principal address at a Knute Rockne memorial dinner. Harry is enthused over prospects of the Irish having a colorful football team next season under Joe Kuharich.

"Joe is a great coach and he's been wanting to get back into college football for a long time," said Wismer. "He has a fine staff of assistants."

Wismer is confident the Yankees will repeat. "I think they'll win as easily as they did last year," said Wismer. "Sure, Detroit has improved, but scan he Tigers' lineup and you won't find players like Yogi Berra, Bill Skowron, Mickey Mantle, or Bob Turley and Manager Casey Stengel is still spry."

Can Richards Tame Oriole Rookie?

Dalkowski: Fast Man, Fast (But Wild)

By LUTHER EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

He earned it last summer by getting the ball across the plate enough to win 10 games for the Orioles as a freshman.

"He has the best fast ball of any pitcher I've ever had. No one hits him when he throws strikes."

On several occasions in three seasons in the lower minors, the 5-11, 175-pound southpaw has proved that point.

Last summer he fanned 20 in firing Class C Aberdeen (South Dakota) to an 11-inning, 2-1 victory.

Yet in three professional seasons, Dalkowski has won only four games while losing 15; has 6.39 as his "best" earned run average, and last year walked 121 batters in 62 innings.

For 10 minutes he had the youth, now on the Triple-A Vancouver roster, concentrating on short-arm pitches and shortening his stride.

"We're trying to get the boy to throw more with his arm and let it pull his body into a natural follow-through," said Richards, recognized as one of baseball's foremost curers of pitching ills.

"Steve's falling so far forward now before he lets the ball loose that he's all tangled up — and has no idea where his pitches are going."

When someone mentioned that Dalkowski pegged strikes for New Britain (Conn.) High as a quarterback against Miami High in 1956 at the Orange Bowl, Richards parried:

More than 500 sun-seekers got an idea of Dalkowski's speed and wildness as Coach Harry Brecheen's team defeated Luman Harris' squad, 7-4, in Saturday's intra-squad game. Another free-for-the watching contest comes up at noon today. If you want to see the regulars work, however, come early — they start training at 9 a.m. . . . General Manager Lee MacPhail sounded unconcerned in reporting "nothing new" on holdout pitcher Billy Loes and Infielder Bobby Avila, who has threatened to quit baseball since being obtained from Cleveland . . . Stadium box seats have been painted a flamingo pink and, on the rail at least, it still comes off on trousers . . . One-word report from Richards on weather and progress of work: "fine."

Matson Worth a Whole Team? Rams Swap Nine for Ollie

CHICAGO —(AP)— In one of the biggest player trades in National Football League history, the Chicago Cardinals Saturday exchanged Halfback Ollie Matson to the Los Angeles Rams for nine players.

The Rams gave up four first string veterans — defensive Tackles Frank Fuller and Art Hauser, offensive Tackle Ken Panfil and defensive End Glenn Holtzman. They also yielded three top draft choices — Halfback Don Brown of Houston (their No. 2 choice); Fullback Larry Hickman, Baylor (No. 3) and End John Tracey, Texas A&M (No. 4).

The Cards also will get another player to be selected prior to the 1959 season and also a high 1960 Ram draft choice.

"Our entire coaching staff feels that these additional top-flight players will, without a doubt, make the Cardinals a strong contender this year," said Managing Director Walter Wolfner.

"We know we gave up a player who, in my opinion, is the greatest back ever to play in the league."

Coach Frank Ivy said the deal climaxed three days of negotiations and that he thinks both clubs will benefit.

"The last thing we wanted to do was trade Matson, but we feel that in order to get worthwhile players, you have to give up something equally good," he said.

Matson, the Cards' No. 1 draft choice in 1952, last season was well behind his peak pro year of 1956 when he carried 192 times for 924 yards. Last season, the fleet fullback carried 129 times for 505, for 11th position among NFL ground gainers.

The 28-year-old Matson, from San Francisco, starred as a college gridder at the University of San Francisco, finishing in 1951 under Joe Kuharich, now Notre Dame head coach.

In six Cardinal seasons, Matson carried the ball 761 times for 3,331 yards, caught 130 passes for 2,150 yards, and scored 300 points. His career average in the NFL to date is 4.38 for rushing, 16.5 for passes caught, 10.9 on punt returns and 28.5 for kickoff returns.

Marlins' Martin Only '13'

HAPPY birthday, Pepper . . . oops, wrong date.

The former leader of the St. Louis Cardinal Gashouse Gang was a Leap Year's Day baby, born Feb. 29. His 14th birthday won't come until next year.

Meanwhile, Marlin General Manager Joe Ryan leaves today for the annual Governors Dinner in Tampa and hopes to obtain another catcher.

Thad Royall's 95 Wins Trap Event

The Royalls, Thad and son Bob, are having a royal time in the Miami Winter Trapshoot which concludes today at the Trail Trap and Skeet Club.

Saturday, Thad shattered 95 of 100 targets to win the Biscayne Bay Handicap and followup Bobs' 16-yard triumph Friday. The pair are far ahead in competition for the "family trophy."

In doubles, Bard Higgins of Duluth, Minn., won with 94x100. Miami's Bill Parry took Class B with 81, Carl Mayhue of Ft. Lauderdale won Class C with 77 and Helen Urban, Mentor, Ohio, was high lady with 81.

Runnerup to Royall in the Biscayne Bay Handicap was R. Slane Weir, who won a shootoff from Don Castor after both tied with 94s.

Richards: Not Sweet, Just Smart

By EDWIN POPE
Assistant Sports Editor

TWENTY or so years ago, when Paul Rapier Richards was just getting his feet wet as a baseball manager, two of his Atlanta Cracker pitchers went out on the town the night before an important doubleheader.

POPE

Richards kept silent but seethed inside. And he promised himself, "Those guys are going to pitch a full game tomorrow if it kills them. Then I'll lower the boom on them."

Both pitched shutouts the next day.

That single incident convinced Richards of the futility of laying down absolute rules for running a baseball team. And it is one reason why today the lean, thin-lipped field chief of the Baltimore Orioles is considered one of the game's outstanding thinkers although none of his eight American League squads has finished higher than third.

"I found out," Richards says in his 50-year-old down-Texas drawl, eyeing young Orioles at work in Miami Stadium, "that ballplayers are distinct individuals with distinct characteristics and emotions. Each must be approached differently."

Dozens of Richards-developed stars bear out that testimony. He is credited with bringing Prince Hal Newhouser to pitching maturity through handling from his backstop position in Detroit, with transforming Saul Rogovin into a winner with the Chicago White Sox, with helping Chisoxer Billy Pierce become one of the American League's most reliable hurlers, and generally with the ability to do more with a mediocre player than any manager in baseball.

* * *

'Teel Your Tongue Hang Down'

IF IT IS trite to point out Richards owes much of his stature to hard work, it is no less true. The Orioles probably work harder than any other big-league group—just as Richards has toiled without let-up through some 30 years of affiliation with 14 major and minor league clubs.

"That Reechards," Pitcher Luis Alomo moaned in Richards' 1951-54 managerial tenure at Chicago, "he run you teel your tongue hang down to here."

In Atlanta, Richards had a standing order that no player should take a shower before he did, and he sometimes sat brooding in his uniform for two hours after a loss.

In Buffalo, when one of his shortstops made three errors in the first game of a doubleheader, Richards sent him to the infield and hit grounders to the embarrassed gloveman all during intermission.

"Players may not develop a love for Richards," said Trader Frank Lane, his general manager at Chicago, "but they develop a respect for him."

* * *

Don't Lose by the Book

THERE IS, of course, more than sheer energy of administration to Richards' success.

He has an uncanny memory. While with the Tigers, he bet teammates he could name the case history and home town of every ballplayer in Class A or Class AA.

Percentages—"Winning by the book is fine, but why lose by it? You have to gamble some."

Pitchers—"A pitcher should learn something every game. With the good pitcher, it's a continuous process. But the unintelligent pitcher develops just enough to remain on the payroll."

Players—"Little things can make big changes in all players' careers. We were about to get rid of George Zuverink one year. Then we found out he is a better pitcher working five days in a row than getting five days' rest. Know how we found out? We used him for seven innings of a night game, then had to call on him for both games of a doubleheader the next day. After that he was tough."

Strategy—"Strategy is hogwash. What good is knowing all the strategy in the world if you can't impart it to others?"

* * *

UMPIRE ED HURLEY called Richards "the American League's top hothead." The Texan was thrown out of 40 games in five years in the Southern Association, fined more frequently and more heavily than any player in league history. But Richards brought Newhouser to the top at Detroit by selling Prince Hal on the virtues of self-control.

. . . calling all Baltimore Orioles

In private life, Richards specializes in self-control, too. For 27 years he has been the soft-voiced husband of a charming Texas lady named Margie, and they have a 20-year-old daughter in college in Missouri.

Richards burns off so much steam daily that he needs a lot of sleep. He is a big eater and his idea of a first-class menu is ham hocks, beefsteak, okra, carrots, beans, beets, new potatoes and garden lettuce.

There is little time for relaxation in Richards' life. But even that relaxation, such as it is, is characteristically serious. On excursions to Baltimore's Pimlico, his "home race track," and Hialeah here, he studies form-charts closely and dislikes interruption. He plays a mean game of scrabble the same way—hard.

A Sport in Our Town

Even Yankee mastermind Casey Stengel, a frequent target of Richards' blasts, once was moved to observe, "That fellow just doesn't let up at all."

Souchak Threatens McMullin

BATON ROUGE—(AP)—Crew-cut John McMullin faded to a one-over-par 73 Saturday but still held a one-stroke lead at the mid-point of the $15,000 Baton Rouge Open golf tournament.

The 23-year-old Fair Oaks, Calif., golfer ran into putter trouble on the last two holes, going one over par on each hole, but his 138 total still was one stroke better than Mike Souchak.

The burly former football player reached to within two feet of the pin on the 515-yard hole on his second shot, then dropped the easy putt for an eagle three.

Wolverines 'Snub' Lions' Stadium Bid

ANN ARBOR, Mich. —(AP)— The University of Michigan's board of athletic control turned down Saturday a request of the Detroit Lions to use the 101,001-seat Michigan Stadium for a professional football exhibition game next summer.

Dixie Meets To Integrate

WICHITA, Kan. —(AP)— The National Baseball Congress said Saturday its segregated Dixie tournaments for Negro teams will end in 1961.

Ray Dumont, president of the non-pro organization, said Negro teams, beginning in that year, will be permitted to play in all Congress-sanctioned tournaments.

When the Congress was founded in 1935 it drew no color line. A team of white and Negro players, with Satchel Paige as its star hurler, won the first national non-pro title for Bismarck, N.D., that year.

Empty Now, Gulfstream Park Will Spring to Life Wednesday

U-Miami Runners Blast Off

SPORTS AROUND DADE

University of Miami opens its track season Saturday against Florida State.

Although the home-standing Hurricanes will be stronger than last year, they're still not expected to be in the Seminoles' class.

Athletic Director Jack Harding announced Saturday that Miami will meet Stetson in a home-and-home agreement for the first time this season. The Hatters will be introducing their first track team.

* * *

JOHN SJOSTROM will lead the UM's golf team against Florida Southern Wednesday. The Ocala meet will open Miami's golf schedule. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Miami will compete in the annual Florida Intercollegiate Tournament at Ocala. Scheduled to make the trip with Sjostrom and Coach Bill Heuson are Dick Guardiola, Gil Buckingham, Paul Levack, Larry Soloman, Richard Cohen and Jim Peace.

* * *

COL. HOWARD Bannister has been elected president of the South Florida Tennis Association. Frank O'Neal will act as first vice president, Dr. A. S. Capi as second veep, Herbert Lewis as third veep, Jack Rice as treasurer and Mrs. Eleanor DeFina as secretary. The association's spring meets will start shortly.

* * *

ANIMALS, GUNS and sporting equipment exhibits will share the spotlight when the Miami-Miami Beach Sports and Vacation Show opens March 14 at Miami Beach Exhibition Hall. Among features will be ex-heavyweight champion Jack Sharkey demonstrating fly-casting techniques, aquatics in an indoor pool, a troupe of retrieving dogs, and a "canoe battle" between Canadian guides and shooting shows.

Skater Ties Mark

LONDON — (AP) — Russian speed skater Mikolai Shetlbaums Saturday equalled his own unofficial world record of 16 minutes, 31.4 seconds for the 10,000 meters.

Armed Tops Wednesday Inaugural

It's On To Gulfstream

Gulfstream Park launches the third and final lap of South Florida's racing season Wednesday with the $10,000 added Armed Handicap as the opening day feature.

A field of from 15 to 18 starters is expected for the six-furlong test which honors Armed, Calumet's great gelding of the 1940s.

Jovial Jove, winner of the handicap last year, will be among the entries which also include Alhambra, Mister Jive, Belleau Chief, Encore, Hubcap, Solution, Charlie's Song, Sonny Dan, Viscount, Chit Chat Allarullah and Greek Game.

The track by the sea at Hallandale will be going into its 15th season under the leadership of James Donn. How far Gulfstream has come in that comparatively short time is shown by the figures which disclose an average daily attendance of 4,534 and average daily mutuel handle of $281,902 in 1944.

Last season the track's average attendance was 15,057 and the handle hit $1,267,004 daily.

This season Gulfstream will offer turf racing for the first time with the Donn Handicap heading the list of events on the grass during the 43-day meeting.

The Florida Derby on April 4 and the Gulfstream Handicap on March 21 again head Gulfstream's stakes program. Both are $100,000 added races and have attracted the top thoroughbreds in the land.

When Gulfstream opened, its minimum purse was $1,000 and the top feature $2,500. This season, stakes alone will add up to $395,000 in purses and overall distribution will total $1,650,000.

Post time will be at 1:50 p.m. daily.

Lavin Gets Dunne Post At Tropical

Allan W. "Doc" Lavin Saturday was named racing secretary at Tropical Park, replacing the veteran Francis P. Dunne. Lavin will assume his post in the fall.

President Saul Silberman said the change is part of a program to encourage horsemen from the west and midwest to race at Tropical—particularly from the opening of the local season.

Silberman said track officials had viewed with concern the tendency in recent years for eastern horsemen to remain at eastern tracks until the Tropical season is well under way.

Lavin's appointment does not mean eastern stables will be denied Tropical stalls, Silberman said, but does mean that all will be screened on a maximum cooperation basis, with priority to those consistently on the scene for the Tropical opening.

Lavin is racing secretary at Churchill Downs and at Oaklawn Park in Hot Springs. He is also assistant racing secretary at Delaware Park.

Oldtimers Play Today

Merv Lincoln Wins Slow Mile

HOBART, Tasamania — (AP) — Merv Lincoln won his first Australian mile championship Saturday but a slow pace and a stiff wind robbed him of any chance to break four minutes.

Lincoln was timed in 4 minutes 5.6 seconds as he competed in the National Track Championships over a slightly sloping track.

John Murray, also from Victoria, finished four yards behind in 4:06.2 and Albie Thomas of New South Wales was third, less than a foot behind. Herb Elliott, world record holder at 3:54.5, did not compete.

The Tiger's a Natural To Run a TV Store

PEOPLE IN SPORTS

Ralph (Tiger) Jones, middleweight contender and boxing's foremost television performer, is studying electronics now so he can open a TV shop when he hangs up his gloves.

But the brawny Negro mauler, participant in more than 40 video bouts, hopes that isn't until he gets a shot at the 160-pound crown or at least money-fights with Carmen Basilio and Gene Fullmer.

A SOLITARY LIGHT glowed near the back of a bus carrying the basketball team of the University of Minnesota's Duluth Branch.

Under it, a Bible in his lap, sat lanky Al Keiski. It was 2 a.m. on a Sunday. He had a sermon to write.

On a bouncing bus, in dim light and with sleep tempting him, Keiski searched for the right message to bring to his three small congregations the next morning.

Keiski, who became interested in Methodist youth work while his family was living in the iron range community of Chisholm, now is qualified to conduct services and administer sacraments of his church.

Williams Laughs Too, BUT . . .

When Will Ted Retire? 'When I Hit Under .300'

By JIMMY BURNS
Herald Sports Editor

An affable, well-tanned and confident Ted Williams flew out of Miami early Saturday for Boston's spring training camp at Scottsdale, Ariz., after giving the first intimation of when he may quit.

This came after Ted had revealed his goals are to play at least 135 games, hit 25 to 30 home runs, bat more than .320 and see the Red Sox win the pennant.

"Just say I hope to survive the season," Williams added jocularly.

That prompted the query of whether Williams has given any thought to when he may end his career, one of the greatest in baseball.

Williams, who surprisingly had apologized to reporters and photographers for arriving at the International airport only 10 minutes before his plane departed at 8:20 a.m., explained why he would not say the 1959 season would be his last.

"If I did that, a lot of people would remark, 'he's saying that again,'" Williams explained. "It depends upon the kind of year I have."

"What would you consider a bad year?" Williams was asked.

"If I hit under .300," Ted replied and joined in laughter over the idea of such a slugger dipping below the .300 mark. Williams' lowest batting average since becoming a Red Sox was in 1946, when he batted .312.

"I feel like I can play a lot," said Williams. "Last year I was sick in September and that cut me down to 132 games. If I don't get hurt, I'll do okay."

Last spring, Williams reported for training bothered by an ankle. It was okay last winter and he played a lot of tennis to get his legs into condition and left Miami weighing only 220 pounds.

"I've been saying for 20 years that I'd hit between 25 and 30 home runs the next season," Williams confided. "The reason I pick a low estimate is because of the bad weather in Boston. You can run into a cold summer there and the season starts 10 days earlier this time.

"I hope it won't be cold this year. The pitchers have it easier than the batters when it is cold. I'm an old duck, you know." (Williams becomes 41 next Aug. 30).

"Have you given any thought to managing when your playing days end?" Williams was asked.

"No," he replied. "It's a pain being a manager. Everybody is trying to fire you. Coaching would be okay, if you could get the right setup."

Williams admitted he is eager to start batting and will be swinging a bat today at Scottsdale, but Ted will take it easy in exhibition games.

"I don't think it's smart to play in too many exhibitions," said Williams." I don't have to prove myself."

A pretty young National Air Lines attendant approached with Williams' baggage check and explained, "Your excess baggage is $28." (He must have carried a lot fishing equipment and bats).

"How come that much?" Ted inquired and was informed the excess baggage rate to Phoenix was 70 cents a pound.

Williams asked his fishing tackle business partner, Walter Killilea, to take care of it and added to Walter, "I hate to leave this wonderful weather."

Ted had as his plane companion to New Orleans, Jockey Bill Hartack, who was flying over to ride Saturday. It was the first time the two stars had met.

"He's one of the best," said Williams, who seldom watches horse racing. He expressed opinion Bill was right in refusing to ride Fred Hooper's Greek Circle, which he thought was unsound, last Saturday at Hialeah.

"Casey was just trying to wake 'em up," said Williams. "The rest of the clubs better wake up to the fact New York is the club to beat again."

It was suggested the Yankees will not get a flying start like they did in 1958.

"I hope not," said Williams. "Something could happen to them. Whitey Ford might have a little trouble and the same is true of Ryne Duren and Don Larsen."

Tampa Lists Grid Drills

TAMPA — (AP) — Coach Marcelino Huerta announced Saturday that spring practice on a three-day a week basis will start Monday for the University of Tampa squad.

Six starters from last season's team plus a host of reserves are expected to take part in the workouts.

Huerta said emphasis will be placed on working under game conditions plus drills on fundamentals.

"We need to give our young boys from last year's squad as much experience as possible this spring," Huerta said, "because they will be the nucleus of the 1959 squad."

Butts, Baxley, Austin, Dale, Poh Earn Berths On Herald's All-City

By DICK EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

The Northern sharpshooters are led by Hialeah's Bernie (Boom Boom) Butts, Dade County's all-time average scoring champion. Other Yankees' include North Miami's Tom Baxley, Miami Edison's Ronnie Poh and Coral Gables' Wally Dale.

Ironically, Poh, Dale and Butts didn't move to Miami until they were of high school age.

Butts, an All-City repeat, started playing basketball in the fourth grade at Syracuse. The lefthander climaxed his public school playing by scoring 621 points in 21 regular season games for a 29.6 average this year. Butts also is a superb dribbler, and play maker.

Poh, another lefthander, scored 471 points in 22 games for Edison. The Pennsylvania native came into his own last year at the state tournament when he subbed for sick Ken Allen and scored 14 points.

Austin came fast in the late season to win the center position. Although scoring only 195 points, the red-head was the county's most feared rebounder.

Only a step-behind on the second team were Miami High's Pete Somerindyke, Southwest's Chris Lefferts, South Dade's Racey Timmons, Jackson's Ron Scott and Miami Beach's Jeff Joseph.

In Football

Gables Hits 78 Points

Coach Nick Kotys is looking forward to a high-scoring Coral Gables High football team next season, but is worried about plugging some defensive holes.

After watching Friday night's 40-38 spring game, Kotys singled out Halfback Harry Tuggle, Quarterbacks Howard Burkhart and Joe Accurso and Jerry Dorsch.

"They were outstanding," Kotys said, "even with 99 boys playing."

Winn Captures Hialeah Race

Gene Winn captured the 20-lap stock car feature race at Hialeah Speedway Saturday night, speeding the distance in six minutes, 41.43 seconds. Hank Pollard was second and Buck Gibbs third.

Church Basketball Semis Listed Today

Unbeaten Allapattah Methodist meets Hialeah Christian in the semifinals of the Downtown YMCA Church Basketball League Monday night at 7:30. The nightcap will pit Sellers Memorial and Westminster Presbyterian.

Tillman Wins

HOLLYWOOD—Red Farmer led the Hollywood Speedway racing field for 29 of the 30 laps Saturday night.

Moore Favors LA Bout

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — A powerful new combination was announced Saturday in a bid to stage a light heavyweight title fight between Champion Archie Moore and Sugar Ray Robinson in Los Angeles.

Promoter Jackie Leonard of the Hollywood Legion Stadium said that he, Truman Gibson and Moore's manager, Jack Kearns, will try to put on the fight in Memorial Coliseum in July.

Leonard said an unidentified group of Hollywood people had agreed to underwrite a $600,000 guarantee in gate receipts. There would also be theater television.

Leonard said efforts would be made to get ex-heavyweight king Jack Dempsey into the promotion. This would be a colorful reunion of the old Dempsey-Kearns partnership.

It would appear that if the Moore-Robinson match is made for Los Angeles, the heavyweight title fight between Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson would certainly go to Chicago or New York. Rival Promoter Bill Rosensohn has said these cities, as well as Los Angeles, were leading bidders for the heavyweight fight.

Non-Helping Hand

The pesky arm belongs to University of Miami's Harry Manushaw and is spoiling the aim of Florida State's Charlie Tinsley as FSU's Don Boltz watches anxiously. Manushaw was the "backbone" as Miami won its 18th game, 92-85.

LA Plays Today, Duke Won't; Chisox Talk Trade for Moss

VERO BEACH —(AP)— The Los Angeles Dodgers play their first intra-squad game today — but Big Duke Snider probably will not see action.

Alston was beginning to have a few minor injury headaches elsewhere in camp. Pitcher Johnny Podres bruised his back in a collision at first base Friday with Catcher John Rosenboro. Outfielders Rip Repulski and Don Demeter each pulled a thigh muscle, but the injuries did not appear to be serious.

Chisox Boost Rookie Romano

TAMPA — (AP) — While the Chicago White Sox had a little workout between showers, there was trade talk involving Catcher Les Moss.

Moss, a bull-pen catcher last season, appears headed for less Sox work with rookie Johnny Romano tabbed to back up veteran Sherm Lollar and Earl Battey.

Detroit's Lary Bruises Foot

LAKELAND — (UPI) — Pitcher Frank Lary became Detroit's first "casualty" as rain washed out the Tigers for the third straight day.

Cubs Collide, Moe Gets Bruise

MESA, Ariz. — (UPI) — The Chicago Cubs got a scare when Moe Drabowsky and Dolan Nichols collided while running in the outfield and Drabowsky came off the field holding his right shoulder.

The injury was only a bruise and the pitcher expects to take a turn on the mound in today's first intra-squad game.

Second Sacker To Join Braves

BRADENTON — (UPI) — The Milwaukee Braves announced Chuck Cottier, young second base prospect who has been in the Army under the six-month program, would join the club here today.

Herrera Signs, Two Phils Out

Infielder Frank Herrera, who arrived one day late, signed his contract, and only two Phils are now outside the fold.

Daley, Jensen Slug Home Runs

Rigney Watches Giants in Game

PHOENIX — (UPI) — Eddie Bresoud's home run and a double by Bill White were the run-making thrusts as the San Francisco Giants played a 1-1, three-inning tie in the spring's opening intra-squad game.

Manager Bill Rigney, injured in a Feb. 8 auto smashup, watched the Giants for the first time from a seat in the stands. Trainer Frank Bowman reported Infielder Daryl Spencer will undergo minor nasal surgery Monday to improve his breathing.

Reds Welcome Havana's Chacon

TAMPA —(UPI)— Elio Chacon, rookie infielder up from Havana of the International League, joined the Cincinnati Reds along with veteran Outfielder Del Ennis.

Bill Virdon Struck on Ear

Virdon was waiting for Bill Mazeroski's line single to center when the ball skipped and struck him on the ear, denting his glasses and inflicting the cut. The injury, however, wasn't serious.

A's Would Take Mick for Maris

Commenting on published reports the Yankees were offering a four-player swap for Maris, who hit 28 home runs last season, Johnson grinned and commented:

Carlin Leading Sailing

Fourth in Saturday morning's heat in moderate breezes, Miamian Carlin found the afternoon's strong 20-mile South-Southeast winds to his liking and won by a comfortable margin.

The luckless Foht, who barely missed earning the National Mid-Winter title last weekend at St. Petersburg, saw his Zephyr overturn as soon as he hoisted a spinnaker on the No. 2 leg of the second heat.

Tied for second behind Carlin's Bonnie Glen Garry going into today's (10 a.m.) final heat are Johnny MacIntosh of Savannah and Bob Crane, former Miamian now living in Darien, Conn.

In fourth place is Carl Smither, Buffalo, N.Y., after finishing second in the Miami Lightning Fleet-sponsored competition in waters off host Coral Reef Yacht Club.

Third skipper among the 24 starters to succumb to trouble in white-capped South Biscayne Bay was Miami's Al Tibbetts, who also flipped.

Skipper, Home Town	Heat-Fin.
Alex Carlin, Miami	4- 1
John MacIntosh, Savannah	3- 5
Bob Crane, Darien, Conn.	6- 2
Carl Smither, Buffalo, N.Y.	2- 8
Tom Fallon, Buffalo	4-10
Howard Mullin, Saddle River, N.J.	7- 8
Mark Auer, Rocky River, O.	7-10

Miami Pin Team Leads

TAMPA —(AP)— General Tire of Miami took over the team lead Saturday night in the Florida State Women's Bowling tournament. The Miami team roled a 2,983 to unseat the Jacksonville Jimmie's Bar by four pins.

There were no changes among the top five in the singles and doubles divisions but Bonnie Willis, Tampa, moved into the No. 2 spot in all events with a 1,649 total.

Elva Copeland, Eustis, leads singles with 703, Ruth Wheeler, Fort Myers, all events with 1,654, and Lois Ritter and Dorothy Ulmer, Fort Myers, doubles with 1,248.

Sooner Coach's Only Comment

Bud: OB Fuss Easily Reconciled

DALLAS —(AP)— Coach Bud Wilkinson of the University of Oklahoma said Saturday "I have never felt any difference with the Orange Bowl cannot be easily reconciled."

That was the only comment Wilkinson would make on action of the Big Eight Conference in its criticism of Oklahoma's handling of its misunderstanding with the Orange Bow.

Oklahoma had said it would not return to the Orange Bowl until assured that its football squad would get better treatment.

'Years' Hardly The Word

By JOE BROWN
Herald Greyhound Editor

Five Miami Beach Kennel Club officials — Bill Gardner, Bill Hart, David Kind, Ernest Rhine and William Reegan — have watched greyhound racing grow from a dream to a big industry.

BROWN

Like Owen Patrick Smith, father of American greyhound racing, the five men felt greyhound racing had a future. This was back in the early part of the century.

Almost 40 years later, Gardner had risen to general manager of the Beach Kennel Club, Hart to mutuels director, Kind as chief of the calculating room and Rhine and Reegan to presiding judges.

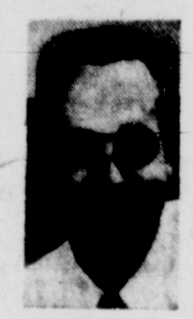
Fishing with Vic Dunaway

When Sport Fishermen Shell Out, Revenue Should Benefit That Group

By now most anglers are aware that the Citizens Marine Fisheries Advisory Committee has recommended a salt water fishing license for Florida. But in the natural wave of discussion and controversy that followed another important suggestion may have been overlooked.



DUNAWAY

The Citizens Committee actually issued several recommendations, all in a neat little package. One of them was that the license be a universal one applying to commercial fishermen and seafood dealers, as well as sportsmen, with revenue dedicated to mutual benefits.

It seems to me that the benefits would not be very mutual.

There are many times more sports fishermen in Florida than commercial fishermen: consequently, the folks who fish for fun would buy most of the licenses.

A license outlay would, of course, come from the recreation budget of the purchasing angler. So why should any part of it go towards research on (1) shrimp fisheries; (2) scallop and clam studies; (3) development of synthetic crab baits; (4) experiments on how to retain the characteristic red color in a frozen red snapper; (5) experiments on how to avoid rancidity in frozen mullet and mackerel?

All of these areas are, or have been, the subject of much time and expense from the State Board of Conservation—the organization which presumably would handle the license money.

* * *

Each Group Has Different Aims

Naturally, all the foregoing items are important to the general pubic as well as to the fishing industry. But this is no reason why anglers should help finance them.

I am as interested in a constant supply of tasty shrimp and other seafood as any consumer. But I figure on paying my share through purchases at the fish market, not through a fishing license.

Nor is there reason to suspect that commercial fishing interests would be deliriously happy about contributing towards sports-fishing projects, such as the construction of artificial reefs or the building of boat ramps.

In fact, the most one could hope for between commercial and sports fishermen is peaceful co-existence. Cooperation is impossible. In order to have cooperation you must have common interests and common goals.

Market fishermen and sportsmen have clashed before. And you don't stop catfights by tossing the cats into the same bag.

* * *

Take Snook Argument For Instance

Conservationists struggled for years to gain gamefish status and protection for the snook. Due to opposition by the well-organized and politically important fishing industry, the struggle was hopeless.

Finally, the commercial industry withdrew its opposition after demanding—and getting—concessions in other areas of conflict. After all, commercial snooking did not represent a very large portion of the industry as a whole, and it was a way of getting sportsmen "off their back."

But it must be a license strictly for and by sports anglers. And before the first nickel is collected, we must map in advance the most important sports fishing needs, along with properly organized steps for their accomplishment.

Let's do what we can to fight off the currently proposed license; then turn our thoughts to a more sensible approach for the angler.

Perch Biting In Central Lake Region

In its weekly report on fishing in various sections of the state, the commission said medium sized speckled perch were willing to bite on live minnows.

Bass fishing in lakes Orange and Apopka is spotty but should improve as the weather warms up. Orange Lake bream and shellcrackers were just starting to bite on fresh water shrimp and worms.

Outdoor Tips

INEXPERIENCED anglers often have trouble telling the prized pompano from the ordinary jack. Easiest way is to look for hard, bony plates just ahead of the tail. Jacks have these plates; pompano do not.

* * *

BRIDGE FISHERMEN often connect by letting their baits drift underneath the bridge, since many species of fish seek out the shelter afforded by the shadows and pilings.

* * *

BAIT CASTERS can save themselves a lot of backlashes if they avoid casting into the wind. Wind slows up the lure, but the spool keeps on running and snarls result.

Visitors Spark Met Tourney With 9 of 12 New Leaders

Nearly every section of the Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament produced an outstanding catch last week. Twelve new leaders were posted, and nine were credited to visitors.

Proving that big fish are lurking in the Gulf Stream off Miami Beach, Haulover Beach Docks recorded the leading white marlin and Pier 5 of Miami claimed the top wahoo.

A 69-lb. wahoo was brought in on Capt. John Slona's Freelance by Leo Teittinen of Athol, Mass.

Leading albacore, out of Islamorada was a 23½-lb blackfin that beat the former tourney record by half a pound—a fact which went unnoticed by the angler, George Bouckhuyt of Lakewood, N. Y., and by Capt. Howard Victor on the Cadet. Unchecked by tourney officials because it was not brought to their attention at the time of the catch, the albacore becomes just another heavyweight catch and unofficial Met record.

The leading 48-lb. bull dolphin was hung up at Marathon by Obert Anderson of Wadena, Minn., on Capt. G. Grathwohl's boat Hunter.

Top jewfish was an Islamorada product. This catch also escaped checking by officials as a new tourney record for Burdess Sole of Evanston, Ill. Capt. Dixie Knowles on the Skipper reported the big jewfish, weighing 301½ lbs., was whipped on 39-lb. line.

Al Schueneman of N. Riverside, Ill., caught the leading 52½-lb. kingfish at Key Largo. Guiding credit went to Capt. Hank Ronalder on the Sea Lion.

The Miami River produced a 22-lb. snook for Harry H. Hall of 120 S.W. 2nd Ave. He landed the 36-inch fish from the bank.

Football or Fists, Heavyweight-Hopeful Charlie Powell Is Prepared
. . . ex-pro gridder chases ring rating against favored Nino Valdes at the Beach Wednesday

Will Worm Turn Wednesday For This Old Hitch-Hiker?

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

Joe Vella, who used Miami and Miami Beach as a springboard for his old light heavyweight champ, Gus Lesnevich, Wednesday hunts the same path up for his new tiger, Charlie Powell.

"But . . .

"When Gus fought Billy Hood in that park next to the Beach dog track in 1936, we got 80 bucks. Another time, I didn't even make enough for fare home. Sent Gus on the train. I hitch-hiked.

This trip, Vella and Powell are due "in the neighborhood of $6,000 or $7,000—and that's a nice neighborhood" for Wednesday's nationally televised hassle with second-ranked heavyweight contender Nino Valdes. The Miami Beach Fight definitely will go in the record book.

"He was the one who asked for this fight. 'Get me (Sonny) Liston or Valdes,' he says. I'm looking for the shortest route to the top.'"

Vella has managed the ex-pro footballer (San Francisco 49ers) 10 months, guiding him through five fights. In his last three, Powell decisioned Bob Biehler in Madison Square Garden, KO'd Charlie Jones in two, and decisioned Charlie Norkus. Overall, he has won 19 of 24 with two draws.

"Yeah," says Vella, "I know Valdes has won 47 of 64. I know he can hit. I know he'll be a big favorite.

NEW HELMETS and life jackets for motorboat racing drivers have been approved by the U.S. Coast Guard and will become required equipment in races sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association.

Both will be a bright orange color (Sher-Glo) which will make drivers more distinguishable in the water following spills.

Don Dunnington of Bethesda, Md., chairman of the safety committee, said the helmets will become mandatory for all inboard drivers on April 1.

The new jackets are available to its 5,000 members through the APBA for $26.
